Runaway Truck Hits House; One Man Hurt Trying to Flee

Leo Keating Residence Damaged — Clears All Traffic in Wild Dash

A runaway laundry truck which rolled from the top of the West Pierpont street hill, cleared traffic as it crossed Broadway, sent pedestrians scurrying for safety, and narrowly missed children at play before it crashed into the side of a house at 14 East Pierpont street yesterday afternoon.

The house was moved a few inches on its foundation and the front of the truck, owned by Kingston Laundry, Inc., 83 Broadway, and operated by Frederick Bindewald, of 21 East Pierpont street, was badly damaged.

Leo Keating, occupant of the first floor apartment in the house, said he was near an outside stairway only a few feet from where the truck crashed when he saw it coming and ran into the house.

On Way Into House

Mrs. Keating, he said, was on her way into the house by the front door at the time and when she saw the truck coming down the hill she ran toward the opposite side of the house to avoid it.

Arthur White, of 118 Broadway, said he was standing on the corner of Broadway and East Pierpont street, when he saw the truck graze a pole near the corner opposite him. He ran for the gate of a nearby fence and suffered injuries of the legs as he crashed through to safety.

Keating and others in the area said the truck, which jumped the curb and crossed part of a yard before striking the house, narrowly missed children at play in a yard above.

Midwest Gets Cooler Weather

Heat Leaves Toll of 125, Including 109 Drownings

(By The Associated Press)

Mid-continent areas got welcome relief today from hot and muggy weather that has enveloped most of the eastern half of the nation.

The mid-June blast of midsummer heat and humidity left a death toll of more than 125, including 19 heat prostrations and 109 drownings.

The break in the heat wave over the midwest came after several days of temperatures in the 90s and above 100.

The cool air mass from the Pacific northwest, with refreshing showers, first hit the plains states and temporarily ended the more than week-long siege of collar-wilting weather. Temperatures were from 15 to 25 degrees lower yesterday from the Dakotas southward to the Texas Panhandle.

Cooler in Chicago

The heat-snapping air mass moved into other hot spots in the midwest during the night. Chicago, limp from two straight days of 95 temperatures, received the cool air and showers shortly before midnight. The temperature dropped into the high 60s after the hottest day in nearly three years.

Scores of other cities reported record heat marks for the date. Temperatures ranged from 90 to 100 degrees along and east of the Mississippi river to the Atlantic coast with the exception of the New England States.

104 in Springfield

It was 104 in Springfield, O. St. Louis simmered through a second consecutive day of 101 degree temperatures. There was some hope of relief today to end the 12-day heat wave.

Other record breaking readings included 96 in Cleveland and Detroit; 95 in Columbus and Cincinnati; 98 in Huntington, W. Va., and Little Rock, Ark., and 89 in Buffalo, N. Y.

Readings continued at record highs in most of the south, with 100 above marks in many areas. Arkansas has not had a major rainfall in 25 days. Washington's top mark was 93 and Philadelphia sweltered in 92 degree heat. It

Petramale Is Given $60,000 Award in Accident Lawsuit

Glasco Man Was Injured in Bus Upset on Kingston-Glasco Highway

Salvatore Petramale of Glasco has been awarded $60,000 for injuries which he sustained on November 10, 1948, when an Adirondack Transit Company bus on which he was a passenger en route to his home overturned on the Kingston-Glasco road.

Petramale suffered a very severe back injury which has made necessary use of a back brace since the accident. He suffered a concussion and contusion of the spinal cord and other injuries.

The judgment of $60,000 is jointly against the State of New York and the Adirondack Transit Lines, Inc., each of the parties paying $30,000 of the judgment. Following the trial of the action before Judge Young of the Court of Claims, a judgment in the sum of $30,000 was entered on June 10 against the State of New York, that judgment being conditional on the bus company paying an additional $30,000. The bus company's insurance carrier has met that condition.

Mother Gets $2,500

Originally the action was instituted by the mother of the plaintiff who was under 21 years of age at the time of the accident. On January 21, 1951, he became of age and the judgment is now divided. He will receive $57,500 for his injuries and his mother $2,500 for loss of services and for medical expenses.

The plaintiff, represented by N. LeVan Haver and Charles Gaffney, was a passenger on an Adirondack bus en route over Route 32 to his home when the bus struck a soft shoulder and went down a bank, overturning.

There were several other cases for injuries growing out of the accident but the Petramale case was the most serious. An action was commenced in the Court of Claims on the theory that the road had recently been improved through widening of the shoulders. These newly completed shoulders of gravel had been oiled and gave the impression that they were a hard blacktopped surface.

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The House today gave its final approval to legislation increasing social security benefits at least $5 a month for the 4½ million Americans now receiving payments. It is expected to cost about 300 million dollars a year.

Long Island Road Places Embargo on Freight Shipments

No Indication Is Seen When Strike of Engineers Will Conclude

New York, June 17 (AP)—The Long Island Rail Road, shut down by an engineers' strike creating one of the metropolitan area's biggest commuter traffic jams, today tightened a freight embargo on its 400 miles of line.

Notice of the embargo, a company spokesman said, has been filed with the Association of American Railroads.

For more than a million persons on Long Island, who depend directly or indirectly on the busy line, there appeared no indication of an immediate settlement of the walkout, now in its second day.

A company spokesman said another mediation session was set for today in an attempt to end the walkout, but time for the meeting was not definite.

Another Session Scheduled

A union spokesman said another mediation session would begin at the company's offices before noon today.

Federal efforts to settle the dispute broke down last night when representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers walked out of a meeting called by Ross Barr, a mediator for the National Mediation Board.

The second day of the tie-up again filled Long Island roads with bumper-to-bumper automobile traffic. Transport officials sought to relieve the jam by increasing subway and bus service.

On all parkways and main highways in Nassau county and in Queens counties, the Automobile Club of New York reported, automobiles crept along in ever-increasing congestion.

The Long Island is the nation's busiest commuter line, and the walkout hit these 100,000-plus passengers first. Many braved bumper-to-bumper highways or crowded subways and buses to come to work yesterday, only to find themselves stranded at nightfall.

Owen Brewster Is Defeated For Senate Renomination

Portland, Me., June 17 (AP)—Owen Brewster, the Senate's fifth ranking Republican, was defeated yesterday for renomination by Gov. Frederick G. Payne by 3,000 votes in the closest, most vicious primary in almost 30 years.

The total vote in yesterday's balloting was a record 155,754—for the GOP and Democratic Senate bids. The old record was 149,000 in 1940.

Brewster, whose turbulent political carrer goes back to the early 1920's had no immediate comment.

An unofficial tabulation gave Payne 68,485 votes to Brewster's 65,357. Only eight of 625 precincts were out and they have but a handful of votes.

Barring a tremendous upset—no Democrat has won a major office since 1934—the 51-year-old Payne will win again in the first-in-the-nation Sept. 8 election.

His Democratic foe will be Roger P. Dube, 30, a surprise primary winner over Earl S. Grant 12,576 to 9,336. Grant was the 1950 gubernatorial candidate.

Not until practically every vote was in would Payne admit that he had won. "I feel better now," he said and issued a victory statement thanking the voters for "a great tribute."

The affable, personable Payne came to the governorship in 1949 after a varied business and political career. He had been a newsboy, theatre manager, accountant, mayor of Augusta, state finance commissioner and army finance officer in World War 2.

Brewster, at 63, has been in the Senate 12 years. He also was governor and congressman for six years. He was last chairman of the Senate's World War 2 Investigating Committee originally headed by President Truman and also was on the committee that probed Pearl Harbor.

He supports Ohio's Senator Taft for the presidency; Payne is an Eisenhower man, but the presidential angle didn't figure in the primary fight.

What brought out the bitterness in their contest was a legislative committee probe into charges of graft and influence-peddling in the state liquor monopoly. Both men were mentioned.

Herman Sahagian, a wine bottler, told the committee he paid $12,000 graft to Frederick W. Papolos of Boston who claimed to have influence with Payne. Papolos denied having any influence as did Payne and told of Sahagian bringing him a $25,000 offer from Brewster for political aid. Brewster denied his story.

Brewster claimed the big issue was his support of the Taft-Hartley Act. The American Federation of Labor's League for Political Education endorsed Payne.

Senate President Burton M. Cross won the Republican gubernatorial nomination and will be opposed in September by Democratic James C. Oliver, a former Republican congressman.

Po'keepsie Man Held as Abductor Of Local Girl, 12

Wilfred Seymour Took Child From Her Home, Say Police

Wilfred Seymour, 29, of 305 South avenue, Poughkeepsie, was arrested early today on a charge of abduction after he had allegedly taken a 12-year-old girl from her Van Buren street home.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn said his office has information and statements alleging that the child was molested.

Appears in Court

Seymour appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino this morning and the case was put over until Wednesday morning to allow the defendant opportunity to obtain counsel. Attorney John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office.

Police were notified at 12:52 a. m., that a man had entered the child's home while her mother was absent, "represented himself as a friend of the family," and induced the child to go with him "to hunt for her parents."

Officers See Child

A description of the child was given and Officers Meyer Levy and John TenEyck were dispatched on the search. A report at 1:20 a. m., said the officers saw the girl on Broadway and asked her to get into the patrol car.

They learned from the child, the report said, that the man, charged with having taken her from the house, had just driven up Broadway.

The officers drove in pursuit and observed the car turning around at a gas station near 649 Broadway and heading down Broadway. They followed, overtook the car near 352 Broadway, forced it to the curb, and took its driver in custody.

Fog Closes Airport

Newark, N. J., June 17 (AP)—A heavy fog put Newark Airport out of business today, 26 hours after it was reopened for commercial airliners on a restricted basis. The airport, operating on rules requiring good flying weather, was shut down for landings and takeoffs at 2:01 a. m. (EST). Visibility this morning was far below the required three miles.

Two Generals Die

Moscow, June 17 (AP)—The Moscow press announced today the deaths of two major generals—Anisim Fyororovich Kiselev, 51, and Nikolai Leporsky, 76. The latter had headed the faculty of hospital therapy at the Soviet naval academy since 1942.

Russia Makes Surprise Offer To Give Back 186 Vessels

Washington, June 17 (AP)—A surprise offer by the Russians to give back 186 American ships was regarded by State Department officials today as advancing negotiations for settling the Soviet Union's 11-billion-dollar World War Two lend-lease account.

Moscow made the offer yesterday in an unexpected renewal of negotiations which have dragged on more than five years. The ships are among 670 turned over to the Soviets by this country during the war.

Yesterday's State Department meeting was the first to take up the long-standing dispute since last August. It left the two governments as far apart as ever on other major issues. Officials said, however, the proposal to turn back some of the vessels was at least a step toward settlement.

The United States is expected to accept the proposal but to renew a demand for the return of other vessels.

A further meeting of negotiating groups was set for Wednesday.

In addition, a Russian group headed by Boris I. Karavaev, temporarily in charge of the Soviet embassy, renewed an offer of 300 million dollars for a final over-all lend-lease settlement. This would be their payment for all other ships, and for machine tools, locomotives and other civilian type goods still usable at VJ Day.

The craft Moscow says it is now willing to turn back are small naval vessels, mostly torpedo boats and submarine chasers.

Of the other vesels whose return the U. S. has long demanded, Russia said 146 have been scrapped or otherwise destroyed and 171 are unfit for navigation.

Moscow offered to buy the remaining 167 but the United States is insisting that they, too, be returned. Included among these are 87 merchant craft, including tankers and dry-cargo vessels which Russia has been using in international commerce.

Mac Arthur Is Cleared For Politics

Army Rules His Status Similar to That of Retired Officer Under Provision

Statement Given

Public Relations Officer Gives Reporters Army Version

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The army today ruled in effect that General Douglas MacArthur is not subject to regulations banning political activity by members of the armed forces.

The army didn't mention MacArthur by name, but it issued a statement discussing the status of five-star generals which made MacArthur's status clear.

The army said when "officers holding this rank are not assigned any duties, they are considered to be in status similar to retired officers and, therefore not subject to the prohibitions of A.R. 600-10 relating to political activities."

MacArthur's status had been widely discussed since he was selected as keynote speaker for the Republican National Convention in Chicago next month. The five-star general has openly supported Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination.

MacArthur has remained on the army's active list but has not been assigned any specific duties since his ouster by President Truman as Far Eastern commander.

A public relations officer handed reporters this statement:

"The Department of the Army in reply to queries from the press today made the following statement with respect to the obligation of A.R. 600-10 to persons in the army who might engage in political activities.

Regulation Defined

"These regulations are designed to limit the political activities of persons who are engaged either in the formulation of military policy or in the execution of any of the tasks of the army. They do not apply to retired personnel who are specifically exempted from their provisions.

"The act of Congress approved June 28, 1948, provides expressly that officers of the army appointed to the permanent grade of general of the army do not have to retire for age. They may remain on the active list indefinitely or they may retire voluntarily. So long as these officers remain on the active list, they may be assigned specific duties. While performing such duties they are considered to be subject to the restrictions of A.R. 600-10 to the same extent as other officers on the active list. When, however, officers holding this rank are not assigned any duties, they are considered to be in a status similar to retired officers and, therefore, not subject to the prohibitions of A.R. 600-10 relating to political activities."

U. S. Contract Placed

Rome, June 17 (AP)—The U. S. Navy today placed a 20 million dollar contract for the construction in Italy of eight Corvettes and 10 mechanized landing craft.

Wins Her Case

Gina Lollobrigida (above) beautiful Italian film star, won a slander suit against a Milan, Italy, newspaper that had criticized her costume. The paper had written that she was practically nude in the film, "Achtung Banditi." Gina said she wore a trench coat practically through the picture and filed suit to "defend her honor as an actress, a woman and wife." (AP Wirephoto).

Swedes Use Jets To Protect Craft Making Search

Fighters Are Told to Shoot if Fired Upon by Russians; Tells of Attack

Stockholm, Sweden, June 17 (AP)—Infuriated Sweden kept up her search over the Baltic today for a missing transport plane and sent along jet fighter escorts with orders to shoot if the Russians attacked.

The traditionally neutral nation's stern action reflected the anger expressed by the government, press and people over the shooting down yesterday of an unarmed Swedish flying boat by two Soviet MIG-15 jet fighter planes.

The seven crew members—two of them wounded—of the downed plane were picked up from the sea by a small German freighter and taken to Hangoe, Finland.

Searching for Transport

They had been searching for a Swedish transport DC-3 missing since Friday with eight men aboard. It was assumed here that the Russians had shot down that craft, also, but the search continued today.

A Swedish Air Force spokesman announced early today that all aircraft participating in the continuing search have been supplied with jet fighter escort. He said the fighters had been told to return fire if attacked.

5,000 Demonstrate

Some 5,000 furious Swedes, jeering, shouting "we will see Stalin hanged," and "down with the Communistic warmongers," demonstrated in front of the Russian embassy last night in protest against yesterday's attack.

The government handed Russian Ambassador Constatine Rodinov a "strong protest" against this "act of violence" and demanded "swift punishment of those responsible for the outrage."

The captain of the Swedish plane said he was jumped by the two Soviet fighters about 60 miles off the Soviet-held Estonian coast, in an area where the Russians are reported to be holding vast sea and air maneuvers.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 15: Net budget receipts $188,280,138.94; budget expenditures $216,231,972.98; cash balance $4,542,922,243.84; customs receipts for month $22,141,135.56; budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $53,900,754,807.74; budget expenditures fiscal year $61,663,737,652.20; budget deficit $7,762,972,844.46; total debt $260,308,777,899.14; increase over previous day $114,710,898.41; gold assets $23,296,623,808.61.

Thousands Idle in More Industries

Miners and Railroaders, Sailors, Many Other Workers Affected by Shutdown

Plan Is Sought

Government, Union Are Trying to Get Some Output

Pittsburgh, June 17 (AP)—The two-week-old steel strike slashed deeper than ever into the nation's economy today as some plants making war munitions reported curtailments near because of a shortage of steel.

In addition to the 650,000 CIO steelworkers who walked out June 2 when the U. S. Supreme Court ruled President Truman had no right to seize the industry, more than 100,000 workers in allied industries are idle.

These include nearly 50,000 coal miners in seven states and more than 30,000 railroaders employed by a dozen carriers.

Nearly 25,000 more are idle in industries dependent on steel. These include sailors on Great Lakes ore boats, ore miners, coke workers, river boat crews, oil and gas pipeline workers, construction crews, and workers in other steel-related fields.

Three Companies May Quit

Announcements that three companies will be forced to stop making munitions this week came as the government and the USW sought to work out a plan to start enough steel flowing from the struck mills to prevent a crippling halt in the production of weapons.

At Cleveland, Lempco Products, Inc., said it was forced to halt making mortar shells today because of steel shortages and to lay off 500 employes on the shell line. Lempco had been producing 4,500 mortar shells a day.

Rocket Plant Affected

The Oldsmobile division of General Motors said a shortage of seamless steel tubing will force it to shut down its 3.5-inch rocket plant at Lansing, Mich., on June 23. A spokesman said, however, the company will continue production of 90-milimeter high-velocity tank cannon and tooling up to produce internal working parts of the Sapphire jet aircraft engine.

In Detroit, it was reported the Ford Motor Co. may be forced to close down rocket production before the end of the week because of a shortage of tubing blamed on the steel strike.

Tank Plant Hit

Officials of the General Motors Corporation's Cadillac tank plant at Cleveland said it has enough steel for from 10 days to two weeks of operation.

The government has been assured by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the USW:

"Count on us to produce the essential military products necessary to carry on our fight against the menace of Communist aggression."

Murray has directed a fourman committee of the USW to help work out an acceptable plan for defense needs for steel. So far the government has announced no specific way of achieving this output, although it said a plan had been worked out to transport steel stored in struck warehouses to weapons manufacturers.

POW Pens Emptied

Koje Island, Korea, June 17 (AP)—Four big prisoner of war pens were emptied today of 22,500 Chinese and North Korean Communist POWs. The only excitement was provided by two POWs who broke ranks to get away from Red prisoner leaders. Eleven thousand North Koreans were to remain out of compounds 92 and 96 only long enough for American guards to search the stockades for weapons and escape tunnels. About 5,500 Chinese from 602 and 6,000 North Koreans from adjoining 603 were dispersed to new smaller units housing about 500 each. The Chinese sang lustily to their own string music and handed Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, Koje commander, a present: a miniature tank fashioned out of ration cans. Boatner has used the threat of tanks frequently in the past few weeks in gaining uncontested control over the island's 80,000 prisoners.

The affable, personable Payne came to the governorship in 1949 after a varied business and political career. He had been a newsboy, theatre manager, accountant, mayor of Augusta, state finance commissioner and army finance officer in World War 2.

Brewster, at 63, has been in the Senate 12 years. He also was governor and congressman for six years. He was last chairman of the Senate's World War 2 Investigating Committee originally headed by President Truman and also was on the committee that probed Pearl Harbor.

He supports Ohio's Senator Taft for the presidency; Payne is an Eisenhower man, but the presidential angle didn't figure in the primary fight.

What brought out the bitterness in their contest was a legislative committee probe into charges of graft and influence-peddling in the state liquor monopoly. Both men were mentioned.

Herman Sahagian, a wine bottler, told the committee he paid $12,000 graft to Frederick W. Papolos of Boston who claimed to have influence with Payne. Papolos denied having any influence as did Payne and told of Sahagian bringing him a $25,000 offer from Brewster for political aid. Brewster denied his story.

Brewster claimed the big issue was his support of the Taft-Hartley Act. The American Federation of Labor's League for Political Education endorsed Payne.

Senate President Burton M. Cross won the Republican gubernatorial nomination and will be opposed in September by Democratic James C. Oliver, a former Republican congressman.

Po'keepsie Man Held as Abductor Of Local Girl, 12

Wilfred Seymour Took Child From Her Home, Say Police

Wilfred Seymour, 29, of 305 South avenue, Poughkeepsie, was arrested early today on a charge of abduction after he had allegedly taken a 12-year-old girl from her Van Buren street home.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn said his office has information and statements alleging that the child was molested.

Appears in Court

Seymour appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino this morning and the case was put over until Wednesday morning to allow the defendant opportunity to obtain counsel. Attorney John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office.

Police were notified at 12:52 a. m., that a man had entered the child's home while her mother was absent, "represented himself as a friend of the family," and induced the child to go with him "to hunt for her parents."

Officers See Child

A description of the child was given and Officers Meyer Levy and John TenEyck were dispatched on the search. A report at 1:20 a. m., said the officers saw the girl on Broadway and asked her to get into the patrol car.

They learned from the child, the report said, that the man, charged with having taken her from the house, had just driven up Broadway.

The officers drove in pursuit and observed the car turning around at a gas station near 649 Broadway and heading down Broadway. They followed, overtook the car near 352 Broadway, forced it to the curb, and took its driver in custody.

Mac Arthur Is Cleared For Politics

Army Rules His Status Similar to That of Retired Officer Under Provision

Statement Given

Public Relations Officer Gives Reporters Army Version

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The army today ruled in effect that General Douglas MacArthur is not subject to regulations banning political activity by members of the armed forces.

The army didn't mention MacArthur by name, but it issued a statement discussing the status of five-star generals which made MacArthur's status clear.

The army said when "officers holding this rank are not assigned any duties, they are considered to be in status similar to retired officers and, therefore not subject to the prohibitions of A.R. 600-10 relating to political activities."

MacArthur's status had been widely discussed since he was selected as keynote speaker for the Republican National Convention in Chicago next month. The five-star general has openly supported Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination.

MacArthur has remained on the army's active list but has not been assigned any specific duties since his ouster by President Truman as Far Eastern commander.

A public relations officer handed reporters this statement:

"The Department of the Army in reply to queries from the press today made the following statement with respect to the obligation of A.R. 600-10 to persons in the army who might engage in political activities.

Regulation Defined

"These regulations are designed to limit the political activities of persons who are engaged either in the formulation of military policy or in the execution of any of the tasks of the army. They do not apply to retired personnel who are specifically exempted from their provisions.

"The act of Congress approved June 28, 1948, provides expressly that officers of the army appointed to the permanent grade of general of the army do not have to retire for age. They may remain on the active list indefinitely or they may retire voluntarily. So long as these officers remain on the active list, they may be assigned specific duties. While performing such duties they are considered to be subject to the restrictions of A.R. 600-10 to the same extent as other officers on the active list. When, however, officers holding this rank are not assigned any duties, they are considered to be in a status similar to retired officers and, therefore, not subject to the prohibitions of A.R. 600-10 relating to political activities."

Russia Makes Surprise Offer To Give Back 186 Vessels

Washington, June 17 (AP)—A surprise offer by the Russians to give back 186 American ships was regarded by State Department officials today as advancing negotiations for settling the Soviet Union's 11-billion-dollar World War Two lend-lease account.

Moscow made the offer yesterday in an unexpected renewal of negotiations which have dragged on more than five years. The ships are among 670 turned over to the Soviets by this country during the war.

Yesterday's State Department meeting was the first to take up the long-standing dispute since last August. It left the two governments as far apart as ever on other major issues. Officials said, however, the proposal to turn back some of the vessels was at least a step toward settlement.

The United States is expected to accept the proposal but to renew a demand for the return of other vessels.

A further meeting of negotiating groups was set for Wednesday.

In addition, a Russian group headed by Boris I. Karavaev, temporarily in charge of the Soviet embassy, renewed an offer of 300 million dollars for a final over-all lend-lease settlement. This would be their payment for all other ships, and for machine tools, locomotives and other civilian type goods still usable at VJ Day.

The craft Moscow says it is now willing to turn back are small naval vessels, mostly torpedo boats and submarine chasers.

Of the other vesels whose return the U. S. has long demanded, Russia said 146 have been scrapped or otherwise destroyed and 171 are unfit for navigation.

Moscow offered to buy the remaining 167 but the United States is insisting that they, too, be returned. Included among these are 87 merchant craft, including tankers and dry-cargo vessels which Russia has been using in international commerce.

Wins Her Case

Gina Lollobrigida (above) beautiful Italian film star, won a slander suit against a Milan, Italy, newspaper that had criticized her costume. The paper had written that she was practically nude in the film, "Achtung Banditi." Gina said she wore a trench coat practically through the picture and filed suit to "defend her honor as an actress, a woman and wife." (AP Wirephoto).

Swedes Use Jets To Protect Craft Making Search

Fighters Are Told to Shoot if Fired Upon by Russians; Tells of Attack

Stockholm, Sweden, June 17 (AP)—Infuriated Sweden kept up her search over the Baltic today for a missing transport plane and sent along jet fighter escorts with orders to shoot if the Russians attacked.

The traditionally neutral nation's stern action reflected the anger expressed by the government, press and people over the shooting down yesterday of an unarmed Swedish flying boat by two Soviet MIG-15 jet fighter planes.

The seven crew members—two of them wounded—of the downed plane were picked up from the sea by a small German freighter and taken to Hangoe, Finland.

Searching for Transport

They had been searching for a Swedish transport DC-3 missing since Friday with eight men aboard. It was assumed here that the Russians had shot down that craft, also, but the search continued today.

A Swedish Air Force spokesman announced early today that all aircraft participating in the continuing search have been supplied with jet fighter escort. He said the fighters had been told to return fire if attacked.

5,000 Demonstrate

Some 5,000 furious Swedes, jeering, shouting "we will see Stalin hanged," and "down with the Communistic warmongers," demonstrated in front of the Russian embassy last night in protest against yesterday's attack.

The government handed Russian Ambassador Constatine Rodinov a "strong protest" against this "act of violence" and demanded "swift punishment of those responsible for the outrage."

The captain of the Swedish plane said he was jumped by the two Soviet fighters about 60 miles off the Soviet-held Estonian coast, in an area where the Russians are reported to be holding vast sea and air maneuvers.

Thousands Idle in More Industries

Miners and Railroaders, Sailors, Many Other Workers Affected by Shutdown

Plan Is Sought

Government, Union Are Trying to Get Some Output

Pittsburgh, June 17 (AP)—The two-week-old steel strike slashed deeper than ever into the nation's economy today as some plants making war munitions reported curtailments near because of a shortage of steel.

In addition to the 650,000 CIO steelworkers who walked out June 2 when the U. S. Supreme Court ruled President Truman had no right to seize the industry, more than 100,000 workers in allied industries are idle.

These include nearly 50,000 coal miners in seven states and more than 30,000 railroaders employed by a dozen carriers.

Nearly 25,000 more are idle in industries dependent on steel. These include sailors on Great Lakes ore boats, ore miners, coke workers, river boat crews, oil and gas pipeline workers, construction crews, and workers in other steel-related fields.

Three Companies May Quit

Announcements that three companies will be forced to stop making munitions this week came as the government and the USW sought to work out a plan to start enough steel flowing from the struck mills to prevent a crippling halt in the production of weapons.

At Cleveland, Lempco Products, Inc., said it was forced to halt making mortar shells today because of steel shortages and to lay off 500 employes on the shell line. Lempco had been producing 4,500 mortar shells a day.

Rocket Plant Affected

The Oldsmobile division of General Motors said a shortage of seamless steel tubing will force it to shut down its 3.5-inch rocket plant at Lansing, Mich., on June 23. A spokesman said, however, the company will continue production of 90-milimeter high-velocity tank cannon and tooling up to produce internal working parts of the Sapphire jet aircraft engine.

In Detroit, it was reported the Ford Motor Co. may be forced to close down rocket production before the end of the week because of a shortage of tubing blamed on the steel strike.

Tank Plant Hit

Officials of the General Motors Corporation's Cadillac tank plant at Cleveland said it has enough steel for from 10 days to two weeks of operation.

The government has been assured by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the USW:

"Count on us to produce the essential military products necessary to carry on our fight against the menace of Communist aggression."

Murray has directed a four-man committee of the USW to help work out an acceptable plan for defense needs for steel. So far the government has announced no specific way of achieving this output, although it said a plan had been worked out to transport steel stored in struck warehouses to weapons manufacturers.

POW Pens Emptied

Koje Island, Korea, June 17 (AP)—Four big prisoner of war pens were emptied today of 22,500 Chinese and North Korean Communist POWs. The only excitement was provided by two POWs who broke ranks to get away from Red prisoner leaders. Eleven thousand North Koreans were to remain out of compounds 92 and 96 only long enough for American guards to search the stockades for weapons and escape tunnels. About 5,500 Chinese from 602 and 6,000 North Koreans from adjoining 603 were dispersed to new smaller units housing about 500 each. The Chinese sang lustily to their own string music and handed Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, Koje commander, a present: a miniature tank fashioned out of ration cans. Boatner has used the threat of tanks frequently in the past few weeks in gaining uncontested control over the island's 80,000 prisoners.

Will Start Hearings

Washington, June 17 (AP)—A platform and resolutions subcommittee of the Democratic National Convention will start public hearings in Chicago on July 16, Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.) announced today. He said individuals and representatives of organizations will be given an opportunity to testify during the sessions, to be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Merchants Protest 75-Cent Minimum

Albany, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Representatives of retail merchants today protested against a proposed 75-cent-an-hour minimum wage in New York state which is provided for in a bill drafted by the State Labor Department.

Several other speakers also attacked the proposal at a public hearing conducted by the joint legislative committee on labor and industrial conditions.

The state CIO supported the proposal.

The hearing was the fifth in a series being held to obtain reaction to a mandatory minimum wage of 75 cents an hour.

Desmond, Faith Women Will Give Testimony

Hudson, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Two women jailed as material witnesses were called today to testify for the first time before the special grand jury investigating vice and corruption in Columbia county.

The two, convicted of having operated disorderly houses in Hudson, were committed to the county jail May 13 in lieu of bail of $10,000 each.

First to go before the grand jury today was Miss Carol Desmond. Mrs. Vera Faith, also known as Mrs. Veronica Werner, was on hand to testify later.

The jury sought testimony regarding possible protection provided for the disorderly houses.

Both women were arrested in state police raids in 1950.

Justice Henry L. Ughett ordered them held as material witnesses in the state-ordered crime probe at the request of investigators.

At a hearing May 13, Burton Sherman, an assistant special prosecutor, told the court that Mrs. Werner had operated a house of prostitution in Hudson "virtually unmolested for at least 20 years." He alleged that Miss Desmond had operated for "a period of about 10 years."

Sherman said investigators believed Mrs. Werner "has testimony that will implicate many political figures, members of the police force and former members of the police force in the city of Hudson."

In regard to Miss Desmond, Sherman said "we have information to lead us to the inevitable conclusion she was a victim of bribery from various officials in Columbia county."

Ladies, Sewer Problem

Berlin, June 17 (AP)—The sewer system and lady street car drivers were the new sore spots in Berlin's east-west cold war today. No connection—just coincidental. The West Berlin newspaper Der Tag reported the East Berlin Communists are preparing to cut West Berlin's sewer lines at the boundary dividing it from the city's Russian-occupied sector. Western officials said blocking the lines would force West Berlin to discharge its sewage into the city's canals and rivers creating a serious health hazard for the Russian zone areas into which the streams flow. East Berlin, trying to free its men for military service, has started using female pilots for its street cars. The West Berlin Traffic Bureau served notice it will not let the women-driven cars cross into West Berlin. The cars must wait at the border for a male driver.

Serve Party Soft-Drink Punch

FOR GRADUATION PARTIES a class cake frosted in school colors, and punch made of your favorite soft drinks, are sure to please.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

The Class of 1952 rates all the fanfare you can give it. First, there should be a beautiful cake, frosted in tints of the school colors decorated with "1952."

If you expect big appetites, plan platters of sandwiches — ham, chicken, cheese. But above all, plan to have a bountiful assortment of iced soft drinks for the thirsty young graduates. Or else, make a soft drink punch and serve it in a large bowl set in ice.

Cherry Lime Cola
(Makes about 1½ gallons punch. Serves approximately 16 allowing 3 punch cups per person)

Twelve small bottles lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled, 13 cups cola carbonated beverage, chilled, 1 cup maraschino cherry juice, 2 tablespoons lime juice, 1 large lime cut in thin slices.

Pour maraschino cherry juice and lime juice into punchbowl. Slowly add the well-chilled carbonated beverages. Float lime slices on top.

For a super idea try this one:

Cola Sherbet Punch
(Serves 12)

One cup cola-type carbonated beverage, well chilled, 1½ cups heavy cream, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 3 tablespoons corn syrup, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 egg whites, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1 dozen individual bottles of carbonated beverage chilled.

To Make Cola Sherbet: Pour cream into freezing tray. Stir in vanilla, corn syrup and orange rind. Slowly pour and fold in the cup of cola carbonated beverage. Add salt to egg whites in mixing bowl; beat until stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually, about ½ tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat until sugar is well blended.

When cola-cream mixture is partly frozen, remove from refrigerator tray and turn into a well-chilled mixing bowl; beat until fairly stiff with a rotary egg beater (about 1 minute). Fold in egg whites; return to refrigerator and continue freezing. When mixture begins to set, stir well with a spoon. Continue freezing until firm.

To Serve: Transfer cola sherbet to serving bowl. Set in cracked ice in punch bowl. Surround with chilled individual bottled soft drinks in a variety of flavors if desired. Spoon cola sherbet into each punch glass as served, and fill with freshly-opened carbonated beverage.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Strawberries, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched soft rolls, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 17 (AP)—A tendency toward the upside was displayed today by the stock market with the rails and steels acting well.

The advance didn't get outside of a fractional range. At the same time it was modified by a relatively large number of small minus signs.

Dow Chemical provided some interest with a fall that extended to between 4 and 5 points before it retraced part of the loss. Yesterday it was up 3½ points at 126.

Textron Incorporated fell between 1 and 2 points after the company took no action on a common dividend normally due now. The previous payment was 25 cents on April 1, and last year the quarterly dividend was 50 cents.

Equitable Office Building was active and higher with one block of 4,000 shares moving up ⅜ at 7¾.

The market started quietly mixed. It continued at a slow pace. From time to time, however, there were attempts made at a recovery but only with partial success.

Stabbed to Death

Countess Krystyna Skarbek (above), 37-year-old Polish noblewoman with a brilliant record as a British spy, was found stabbed to death in a London hotel. Scotland Yard said that a porter confessed the slaying. She served under French Maquisards, accomplishing daring feats of sabotage against the Nazis, and became a naturalized Briton in 1947. She recently signed on as an ocean liner stewardess. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Long Island Road

tention was given to the freight situation on the Long Island. But early today a Long Island official said the first day of the strike had caught about 3,000 empty and loaded freight cars in yards and on tracks of the LIRR.

Although best-known for the 300,000 daily passenger fares it carries freight accounts for more than 20 per cent of the road's revenue.

A railroad spokesman said the Long Island moves some raw materials to the island's Republic, Grumman and Fairchild aircraft plants, which have defense contracts.

However, officials of three aircraft firms said they obtain much of their supplies by truck and that they have large stock piles.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

RISKING GOSSIP

A questionable situation is described as follows: "Seven years ago my mother passed away and after her death I went to live with my sister and her husband. This sister is now very ill and not expected to live more than a few weeks. When death comes, would it be indiscreet of me to continue living in the same house with my brother-in-law? We are both in our late forties."

I'm sorry, but you would risk criticism — unless perhaps you have a woman relative, or even friend, who could make her home with you both.

Baby Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to give a baby shower for a neighbor of mine who has been very kind to me. However, I do not know all of her friends, but can get a list from her mother. My problem is whether or not it would be proper to invite these strangers to a shower at my house. As I am a comparative newcomer here, I do not want to do anything that will invite criticism.

Answer: It is quite proper that a hostess invite intimate friends of the guest of honor to a shower for her, even though strangers to the hostess. The main point is that they must be friends of the one who is to be showered.

Table Manners Question

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a point of correct table manners. I was taught from earliest childhood that it is improper to lean one's knife against the plate with the blade on the edge of the plate and the handle resting on the table. My husband thinks it is quite all right to do this and I feel that he is setting a bad example to the children by insisting on this practice.

Answer: You are right. The knife should always be laid fully on the plate.

How do men and women dress for a "semi-formal" party? This and many other questions are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Will Start Hearings

Washington, June 17 (AP)—A platform and resolutions subcommittee of the Democratic National Convention will start public hearings in Chicago on July 16, Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.) announced today. He said individuals and representatives of organizations will be given an opportunity to testify during the sessions, to be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Merchants Protest 75-Cent Minimum

Albany, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Representatives of retail merchants today protested against a proposed 75-cent-an-hour minimum wage in New York state which is provided for in a bill drafted by the State Labor Department.

Several other speakers also attacked the proposal at a public hearing conducted by the joint legislative committee on labor and industrial conditions.

The state CIO supported the proposal.

The hearing was the fifth in a series being held to obtain reaction to a mandatory minimum wage of 75 cents an hour.

Desmond, Faith Women Will Give Testimony

Hudson, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Two women jailed as material witnesses were called today to testify for the first time before the special grand jury investigating vice and corruption in Columbia county.

The two, convicted of having operated disorderly houses in Hudson, were committed to the county jail May 13 in lieu of bail of $10,000 each.

First to go before the grand jury today was Miss Carol Desmond. Mrs. Vera Faith, also known as Mrs. Veronica Werner, was on hand to testify later.

The jury sought testimony regarding possible protection provided for the disorderly houses.

Both women were arrested in state police raids in 1950.

Justice Henry L. Ughett ordered them held as material witnesses in the state-ordered crime probe at the request of investigators.

At a hearing May 13, Burton Sherman, an assistant special prosecutor, told the court that Mrs. Werner had operated a house of prostitution in Hudson "virtually unmolested for at least 20 years." He alleged that Miss Desmond had operated for "a period of about 10 years."

Sherman said investigators believed Mrs. Werner "has testimony that will implicate many political figures, members of the police force and former members of the police force in the city of Hudson."

In regard to Miss Desmond, Sherman said "we have information to lead us to the inevitable conclusion she was a victim of bribery from various officials in Columbia county."

McCabe has left to assume new duties for the company at Dalles, Ore., where a dam is being built on the Columbia River. The company is constructing dams at Merriman and Neversink.

Ladies, Sewer Problem

Berlin, June 17 (AP)—The sewer system and lady street car drivers were the new sore spots in Berlin's east-west cold war today. No connection—just coincidental. The West Berlin newspaper Der Tag reported the East Berlin Communists are preparing to cut West Berlin's sewer lines at the boundary dividing it from the city's Russian-occupied sector. Western officials said blocking the lines would force West Berlin to discharge its sewage into the city's canals and rivers creating a serious health hazard for the Russian zone areas into which the streams flow. East Berlin, trying to free its men for military service, has started using female pilots for its street cars. The West Berlin Traffic Bureau served notice it will not let the women-driven cars cross into West Berlin. The cars must wait at the border for a male driver.

EAT WELL for Less

Serve Party Soft-Drink Punch

FOR GRADUATION PARTIES a class cake frosted in school colors, and punch made of your favorite soft drinks, are sure to please.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

The Class of 1952 rates all the fanfare you can give it. First, there should be a beautiful cake, frosted in tints of the school colors decorated with "1952."

If you expect big appetites, plan platters of sandwiches — ham, chicken, cheese. But above all, plan to have a bountiful assortment of iced soft drinks for the thirsty young graduates. Or else, make a soft drink punch and serve it in a large bowl set in ice.

Cherry Lime Cola

(Makes about 1½ gallons punch. Serves approximately 16 allowing 3 punch cups per person)

Twelve small bottles lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled, 13 cups cola carbonated beverage, chilled, 1 cup maraschino cherry juice, 2 tablespoons lime juice, 1 large lime cut in thin slices.

Pour maraschino cherry juice and lime juice into punchbowl. Slowly add the well-chilled carbonated beverages. Float lime slices on top.

For a super idea try this one:

Cola Sherbet Punch

(Serves 12)

One cup cola-type carbonated beverage, well chilled, 1½ cups heavy cream, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 3 tablespoons corn syrup, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 egg whites, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1 dozen individual bottles of carbonated beverage chilled.

To Make Cola Sherbet: Pour cream into freezing tray. Stir in vanilla, corn syrup and orange rind. Slowly pour and fold in the cup of cola carbonated beverage. Add salt to egg whites in mixing bowl; beat until stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually, about ½ tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat until sugar is well blended.

When cola-cream mixture is partly frozen, remove from refrigerator tray and turn into a well-chilled mixing bowl; beat until fairly stiff with a rotary egg beater (about 1 minute). Fold in egg whites; return to refrigerator and continue freezing. When mixture begins to set, stir well with a spoon. Continue freezing until firm.

To Serve: Transfer cola sherbet to serving bowl. Set in cracked ice in punch bowl. Surround with chilled individual bottled soft drinks in a variety of flavors if desired. Spoon cola sherbet into each punch glass as served, and fill with freshly-opened carbonated beverage.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Strawberries, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched soft rolls, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Stuffed eggs, sliced tomatoes, sliced sweet onions, whole wheat bread, butter or margarine, cubes of cheese, chocolate cake, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Beef and vegetable meat loaf, tomato sauce, buttered spaghetti, corn on cob, enriched bread, butter or margarine, raw carrot and raw cucumber sticks, butterscotch pudding, coffee, milk.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 17 (AP)—A tendency toward the upside was displayed today by the stock market with the rails and steels acting well.

The advance didn't get outside of a fractional range. At the same time it was modified by a relatively large number of small minus signs.

Dow Chemical provided some interest with a fall that extended to between 4 and 5 points before it retraced part of the loss. Yesterday it was up 3½ points at 126.

Textron Incorporated fell between 1 and 2 points after the company took no action on a common dividend normally due now. The previous payment was 25 cents on April 1, and last year the quarterly dividend was 50 cents.

Equitable Office Building was active and higher with one block of 4,000 shares moving up ⅜ at 7¾.

The market started quietly mixed. It continued at a slow pace. From time to time, however, there were attempts made at a recovery but only with partial success.

Tax Held Valid

New York, June 17 (AP)—New York city's new $400 tax on state retail liquor licenses has been held constitutional by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenber. The court, in upholding the tax, also refused to grand an injunction to halt the new law's operation, effective Monday.

Stabbed to Death

Countess Krystyna Skarbek (above), 37-year-old Polish noblewoman with a brilliant record as a British spy, was found stabbed to death in a London hotel. Scotland Yard said that a porter confessed the slaying. She served under French Maquisards, accomplishing daring feats of sabotage against the Nazis, and became a naturalized Briton in 1947. She recently signed on as an ocean liner stewardess. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Long Island Road

tention was given to the freight situation on the Long Island. But early today a Long Island official said the first day of the strike had caught about 3,000 empty and loaded freight cars in yards and on tracks of the LIRR.

Although best-known for the 300,000 daily passenger fares it carries freight accounts for more than 20 per cent of the road's revenue.

A railroad spokesman said the Long Island moves some raw materials to the island's Republic, Grumman and Fairchild aircraft plants, which have defense contracts.

However, officials of three aircraft firms said they obtain much of their supplies by truck and that they have large stock piles.

The accident happened about four miles north of Kingston.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

RISKING GOSSIP

A questionable situation is described as follows: "Seven years ago my mother passed away and after her death I went to live with my sister and her husband. This sister is now very ill and not expected to live more than a few weeks. When death comes, would it be indiscreet of me to continue living in the same house with my brother-in-law? We are both in our late forties."

I'm sorry, but you would risk criticism — unless perhaps you have a woman relative, or even friend, who could make her home with you both.

Baby Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to give a baby shower for a neighbor of mine who has been very kind to me. However, I do not know all of her friends, but can get a list from her mother. My problem is whether or not it would be proper to invite these strangers to a shower at my house. As I am a comparative newcomer here, I do not want to do anything that will invite criticism.

Answer: It is quite proper that a hostess invite intimate friends of the guest of honor to a shower for her, even though strangers to the hostess. The main point is that they must be friends of the one who is to be showered.

Table Manners Question

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a point of correct table manners. I was taught from earliest childhood that it is improper to lean one's knife against the plate with the blade on the edge of the plate and the handle resting on the table. My husband thinks it is quite all right to do this and I feel that he is setting a bad example to the children by insisting on this practice.

Answer: You are right. The knife should always be laid fully on the plate.

How do men and women dress for a "semi-formal" party? This and many other questions are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Taft Wins Vote In Shawangunk

Members of Shawangunk District No. 3 Republican Club favored Senator Taft as the GOP presidential candidate and expressed preference for a change in primary voting when they met recently at the fire house along the Shawangunk Trail, Walker Valley.

The straw vote gave Taft 26, Eisenhower three, MacArthur two and one voted a question mark "with the thought that Senator Wicks would be interested."

Mortimer Johnson conducted the meeting.

Method Criticized

The procedure of voting for delegates in New York state was discussed and critisized. It was brought out that on Primary Day citizens vote for a delegate without knowing which candidate he favored. It was felt that citizens were not being given the opportunity to voice their preference at the polls. It was noted that this may be the reason why citizens do not go out to vote at the primary and on Election Day.

Members expressed a feeling of voting in the dark for a delegate who may or may not vote for the candidate of their choice. The system of voting, members agreed, seems to be unfair and wrong, because it does not truly represent the wish of the people of the state.

Mrs. Annette Staff, refreshment chairman appointed on the July committee, Mrs. Mary Andreyko, Frank Basil, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baxter, Mrs. May Brundage, Mrs. Catherine Miller and Joseph Burkel.

Mrs. Norma Jones, publicity chairman, reported circulating letters to all members, urging unity among the members. She suggested the institution of a program committee to plan entertainment to create more interest and enjoyment at the meetings.

Endorses Idea

Jesse McHugh, town supervisor, heartily endorsed the idea, saying, "I come over here for a little enjoyment and entertainment. I think we should plan our meetings to make our members want to come out." He agreed to be the program chairman for the July meeting.

President Johnson appointed Mrs. Norma Jones to write the senator, advising him of the straw vote figures.

Members voted to hold the annual club picnic on the August meeting night. Mrs. Annette Staff was appointed chairman, with Edward Staff, Mrs. Christina Watts, George Knutsen, Kenneth Dimsey and Francis Garrison to serve on the committee. Mrs. Staff was asked to report full details as to time and place at the July meeting.

Jesse McHugh gave a brief talk on what he thought of the club. He said, "I have always thought this club is a fine thing. I have always enjoyed the fellowship and good times we have had together I want to tell you that we haven't got a club like this in all of Ulster county."

Attending from Wallkill were Jesse McHugh, town supervisor; Mrs. Cartherine Miller, town clerk; Francis Garrison, assessor; Assessor David and Mrs. Brundage, Mrs. Francis Aumick and George Knutson.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be on July 9.

Taft Wins Vote In Shawangunk

Members of Shawangunk District No. 3 Republican Club favored Senator Taft as the GOP presidential candidate and expressed preference for a change in primary voting when they met recently at the fire house along the Shawangunk Trail, Walker Valley.

The straw vote gave Taft 26, Eisenhower three, MacArthur two and one voted a question mark "with the thought that Senator Wicks would be interested."

Mortimer Johnson conducted the meeting.

Method Criticized

The procedure of voting for delegates in New York state was discussed and critisized. It was brought out that on Primary Day citizens vote for a delegate without knowing which candidate he favored. It was felt that citizens were not being given the opportunity to voice their preference at the polls. It was noted that this may be the reason why citizens do not go out to vote at the primary and on Election Day.

Members expressed a feeling of voting in the dark for a delegate who may or may not vote for the candidate of their choice. The system of voting, members agreed, seems to be unfair and wrong, because it does not truly represent the wish of the people of the state.

Mrs. Annette Staff, refreshment chairman appointed on the July committee, Mrs. Mary Andreyko, Frank Basil, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baxter, Mrs. May Brundage, Mrs. Catherine Miller and Joseph Burkel.

Mrs. Norma Jones, publicity chairman, reported circulating letters to all members, urging unity among the members. She suggested the institution of a program committee to plan entertainment to create more interest and enjoyment at the meetings.

Endorses Idea

Jesse McHugh, town supervisor, heartily endorsed the idea, saying, "I come over here for a little enjoyment and entertainment. I think we should plan our meetings to make our members want to come out." He agreed to be the program chairman for the July meeting.

President Johnson appointed Mrs. Norma Jones to write the senator, advising him of the straw vote figures.

Members voted to hold the annual club picnic on the August meeting night. Mrs. Annette Staff was appointed chairman, with Edward Staff, Mrs. Christina Watts, George Knutsen, Kenneth Dimsey and Francis Garrison to serve on the committee. Mrs. Staff was asked to report full details as to time and place at the July meeting.

Jesse McHugh gave a brief talk on what he thought of the club. He said, "I have always thought this club is a fine thing. I have always enjoyed the fellowship and good times we have had together. I want to tell you that we haven't got a club like this in all of Ulster county."

Attending from Wallkill were Jesse McHugh, town supervisor; Mrs. Cartherine Miller, town clerk; Francis Garrison, assessor; Assessor David and Mrs. Brundage, Mrs. Francis Aumick and George Knutson.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be on July 9.

TRUMAN IS SHREWD POLITICIAN

Even his stoutest enemies concede that President Truman is a shrewd politician and a tough campaigner. As has been widely noted, he is already embarked on his 1952 campaign for the Democrats, and plainly intends to keep his early pace. His speech to Congress on seizure powers and the Taft-Hartley act fits right into that program.

It's old stuff that Mr. Truman faithfully avoids use of the Taft-Hartley law wherever possible because of its red-flag character in the minds of labor officials. The current steel situation has been no exception; it merely proved the rule.

When the President addressed Congress, he explained why he didn't want to use the law: he considered it would do more harm than good. He didn't say all he may have meant by that, for he could well have included "harm to the Democrats."

What he really was doing was to set a trap for his opposition, chiefly the Republicans and southern Democrats. Though it is his business to enforce the laws of this country, he tossed back to Congress the matter of whether Taft-Hartley should be used in this instance. He may easily have guessed that his opponents would brush aside his own alternative—seizure—to insist on use of the law labor hates.

The Senate promptly obliged him by voting 49 to 30 to request him to use Taft-Hartley. What the Senate did does not have the force of law. But if the President should now choose to employ Taft-Hartley, he may turn to union labor and say: "I didn't want to use it, but the Senate forced my hand."

The trap, in other words, was Mr. Truman's apparently successful effort to shift to Congress the blame for resorting to that act. It leaves him clean, in labor's eyes, and put the onus upon Congress. And since the Republicans voted 31 to 3 for use of Taft-Hartley, they must bear the brunt of responsibility.

Depending on your viewpoint, this may all be either shrewd campaigning or playing politics with the nation's steel output. But there can be little question that it is effective with workers, who are still one of the strongest elements in the Democratic coalition that has won the White House steadily since 1932.

The Republicans may see no profit to themselves in trying to ape Mr. Truman. They may have no real hope of winning the bulk of the labor vote this fall. But all signs indicate they will need some of it. And hence they are faced with the formidable task of devising a strategy to counter the President's course.

If they cannot keep from falling into Mr. Truman's traps, they at least should find some way to set a few of their own. As it stands, they are playing his game.

WELCOME CHANGE

One of the best signs of the improved posture of the Western nations is the way in which French authorities have dealt with the series of Communist uprisings that greeted General Ridgway's arrival in Paris.

A few years ago French leaders would have trembled at the idea of clapping a top Communist like Jacques Duclos into jail and raiding Red headquarters.

But this is 1952. France is stronger militarily and economically, as is many another nation in the North Atlantic alliance. The French understand Red tactics for what they are, and are not afraid to call Moscow's bluff. So Duclos resides in jail and Red headquarters all over Paris have been ransacked.

It may not be as easy to cope with Communist strike maneuvers, but everything indicates equal firmness will be mustered for that battle.

Most persons figure that they should work eight hours and sleep eight hours a day. It's the fellow who tries to do both at the same time who gets into difficulties.

Pussy footing around seems a sure way to go to the dogs.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE FASCIST TREND

It is not an altogether unexpected phenomenon that in both Germany and Italy, a reversion to Fascism should be apparent. The alternatives are communism or the American form of capitalism.

In the United States, during the past two decades, a deification of the word, democracy, has been sponsored by both government and many organs of the people. Unfortunately, the word itself has so many meanings as to be meaningless. Certainly, to one who is not an American, the glorification of the word seems peculiar and even queer, because there is no evidence that any aspect of political, social or economic democracy, in definable terms, is practiced here.

The method employed by Americans to select public officials is remote from democracy; we enjoy a representative, republican government, operating through two mechanistic political parties. While the people can and do select, for president or many other offices, one of the two candidates offered by these parties, it is rare that anyone can be chosen independently of them. The choice of the people is funneled through the parties. There is no mob rule, no shouting of the Demos.

Similarly, while capitalism is often referred to as free enterprise, its purpose is to produce goods and services but also to create reservoirs of privately owned capital by encouraging the accrual of private profit. The tendency of government to engage in competitive business with private individuals, either directly or indirectly by loans and subsidies, involves a movement away from the American economic system toward European Social Democracy. As this trend expands, particularly in the nature of controls, Europeans note that the United States is imitating Europe and not vice versa.

Socially, the American people reject the European concept of democracy, which is equality. Racial discrimination is not the only social barrier in this country. As long as the fundamental American concept of equality of economic opportunity prevailed, no elite class was able to survive long in this country, although it always existed. The graduated income tax is stratifying American society, for only those who possess inherited wealth or are corrupt can acquire the means to move toward social equality. The rest pay taxes and grow constantly poorer through depreciated currency.

Also, the militarization of this country by siphoning youth off during the most important formative years, a system we have copied from continental Europe, delays the opportunities of young people to establish themselves. To this delay must be added the dangerous increase of city population which tends to turn citizens into proletarians.

This the Europeans witness objectively. They are offered wonderful means to a non-existent democracy and are asked to imitate a system we do not use ourselves.

To Americans, our way is satisfactory with all its imperfections. In fact, most of us prefer the imperfections because they protect our liberties. As Estes Kefauver said in his book "A 20th Century Congress":

". . . Those multiple proposals rubber-stamped by a dazed Congres did not alter the fundamentals of the American government. Proof of this fact lies in the high percentage of those hastily enacted laws that passed the test of constitutionality before the Supreme Court. Unlike another strong, but in that case malevolent, leader in a nascent democracy beset by grave problems, our Executive did not demand goose-stepping, heils, and the absolution of the fuehrer principle. That is fortunate. The people might have been tempted to try such nostrums."

It is because we are loose in our definitions and not very effective in our government that we have not gone crazy over the counterparts of Hitler and Mussolini or Stalin. We take our great men in our stride and recognize that no one is so big that he does not look pot-bellied and bandy-legged in the secrecy of the bath. At such things we laugh and we vote for them.

The Europeans say we are immature. They want a political, economic and social system that is orderly. Our use of the word, democracy, only confuses them. It is a disorderly word, meaning anything that anyone wants it to mean. I have waited for several years, for instance, for some philosopher of the Americans for Democratic Action to supply a precise definition of their basic philosophy in universal terminology.

They have not been able to do anything like that. Nor has the Voice of America. Therefore, Europe goes its merry way toward "ordnung," but now in the Fascistic form.

That Body of Yours

ACCIDENTS KILL MANY CHILDREN

At the beginning of the century about three children of every 10 died at birth or during the first year. Today, because children's diseases are prevented in great measure by immunizing children against children's infectious diseases, the death rate has been reduced by over 200 per cent. However, we read every day of one or more children being burned to death, poisoned, or killed in accidents, traffic or other types, and in the majority of these cases, the parents are to blame.

In advertising their Eighth National Health Week, the Health League of Canada put a list of health facts into the hands of all physicians, public speakers, editors and clergymen.

Among these facts was the statement that accidents are greater child killers than 10 top infectious diseases. Here are a dozen vital safety rules for every parent to follow.

1. Don't leave drugs and medicines within reach of children. Always keep them in a cupboard out of reach.
2. Don't leave cleaning fluids, insecticides. rat poisons and similar household articles within reach of children.
3. Don't leave a child alone in a room where there is boiling water or other hot fluids, even though you think he cannot reach it. Don't let handles of utensils holding these fluids extend beyond stove or table.
4. Don't let children play with matches or fire. Keep matches in a cupboard out of reach.
5. Don't leave scissors, knives, open tins, pins, razor blades and other sharp instruments where children can get hold of them.
6. Don't make it easy for your child to fall and injure himself on loose rugs, stair pads, and loose edges on linoleum. Have protective screens on windows or fix them so that they cannot be opened too far.
7. Don't leave the wringer or washing machine going for even a second while you are not watching it.
8. Don't have defective electric cords in the home or let the child handle electric appliances.
9. Don't let infants play with or wear ornaments small enough for them to swallow.
10. Don't leave firearms, even though unloaded, where a child can reach them.
11. Don't let children play unsupervised in the streets, until they have learned to keep off the road.
12. Don't let children play unsupervised near the water. Teach them to swim as soon as possible.

Another Triumph of Communist Efficiency

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Attorney General James McGranery has now been in office long enough to pass a snap judgment on one of the most important cases handled by his predecessors, The American President Lines, and to settle it in favor of the man to whom he owes a great debt for ramming his confirmation through the Senate — Pat McCarran of Nevada.

Therefore, it's not unfair to call his attention to certain things that have been going on around him which he should investigate.

McGranery, when appointed, made eloquent promises of a corruption cleanup. Since his appointment he has made no moves in that direction, has appointed no one to handle a cleanup, and indicates he will continue the chief of the criminal division, James McInerney, who should have been prosecuting corruption all along, but didn't.

Accordingly, here is the first of some "memos to McGranery" regarding smelly situations existing right under his nose which he should detect by the smell—if his olfactory nerves aren't deadened by long exposure to decay!

"Memo to McGranery"

Take a look, Mr. Attorney General, at the manner in which 8,633,000 pounds of rope—all the surplus rope in the national inventory—was sold to Russia. Also, please take a look at how the man who sold it is now dealing with the Navy Department, has his wife on the navy payroll, and entertains admirals and navy officers at his home.

The man in question is Walter Lester Henry Beecher Van Dyke, a manufacturers' agent or "five percenter," living at Vienna, Va., a suburb of Washington.

His purchase of rope for Russia included about all the sisal and henequen rope the army had as surplus after the war, and it was sold in 1947, at a time when our relations with the Soviet were on the worsening side.

Unfortunately, your old colleagues in Congress, Mr. Attorney General, were partly to blame for this, because they listened to the lobbyists after the war and passed a surplus property act requiring the armed services to sell off their surplus to the highest bidder. Russia came along as the highest bidder through Van Dyke, and so war assets carried out the law.

Front for Russians

In arranging the sale, Van Dyke worked through the Rogers International Corp., which operated for the Soviet. After the bid was accepted June 30, 1947, the army quite rightly rebelled at admitting Russian inspectors into army warehouses to look at the rope.

Therefore, Rogers International secured American inspectors to check the rope, rejected several thousand pounds, and tried to renegotiate the contract in order to buy at half price. The agreed price was only nine cents a pound.

Meanwhile, non-Communist Finland, which has a record of paying its debts to this country, started searching frantically for rope, which was hard to get. It offered 19 cents a pound in New Orleans, 25 cents in San Francisco, for the same identical rope for which the Russians were paying nine cents. In the end, Finland managed to get the "damaged" rope, but the big bulk had already been shipped to "undestined ports in the USSR" at half what the taxpayers had to pay and far less than the Finns were eager to pay.

Shift to Navy

The man who engineered this deal has now shifted his operations to the navy. He had a natural "in" there because his wife, Mrs. Winifred Van Dyke, is a civilian employe at navy headquarters. Her record at the navy seems to be satisfactory, though she admits receiving calls for her husband over her navy phone.

However, through his wife, five-percenter Van Dyke was able to cultivate the navy brass, until his private bar on Saturday night looked like a small edition of a navy officers' club.

His home, now valued at $75,000, features a sumptuous bar in the basement, and since he bought the place he has put in $40,000 worth of improvements.

Here Van Dyke throws lavish parties, sometimes featuring such delicacies as pheasant, wild duck, and champagne. Here also Rear Adm. John Wood, chief of the Norfolk supply center, lived for several weeks last fall, while another high-ranking guest has been Capt. Fred Hetter, assistant chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

Hetter, when questioned, denied knowing anything about Van Dyk's business, claimed the lobbyist had never discussed business or asked any favors from him.

Deals in Electronics

Another navy man in Van Dyke's circle of friends is Leon Godeby, who passes on electronics designs and recommends who should get navy electronic contracts. While Godeby doesn't have final authority, his word can be persuasive.

It's highly interesting, therefore, that most of Van Dyke's business with the navy is negotiating electronics contracts. It's also interesting that Van Dyke's navy friends have been developed in a short time. For instance, Godeby didn't meet Van Dyke until nine months ago. Yet, in that nine months, he got to know the five-percenter so well that he asked Van Dyke to stand up as best man at his son's recent wedding.

Godeby, when interviewed, denied accepting any favors from Van Dyke, and denied giving him any inside navy information. He admitted that Van Dyke had offered him a job and that he had considered going to work for him.

Since electronic devices are the most important secrets the navy has, ranking right next to the atom bomb, it would seem that naval officers or naval experts should not indulge in conviviality with a purchasing agent who arranged for the sale of all surplus rope to Russia, and that the whole matter should come under the eye of the new attorney general who has vowed so pleasantly but inconclusively that he would clean up Washington.

Ripley's Believe It or Not!

Today in Europe

Insecurity of Europe Is Main Item Gleaned From Trip to Continent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

En Route From Europe, June 17—After several weeks in Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, the main impression which this correspondent carries back home is that Europe is insecure. It is insecure politically, economically and spiritually. It is suffering from the shell-shock of war and despite outward appearances of normalcy, Europe is a long way from stability or safety.

A Third World War along the lines of World War I or War 2 is improbable for the simple reason that, without the firing of a shot or the march of a single army corps, Europe is ripe for Soviet plucking.

There exists in every country a Soviet apparatus which has infiltrated the opposition parties, the press, the radio and the educational institutions and which guides the internal battle constantly in the direction of political and economic chaos. Democracy is slowly coming to realize the danger but still foolishly tolerates the very abuses of liberty that can lead to its own destruction.

Soviet Russia's strategy is to influence and bring into control of the various governments the parties that will play the Communist game—not as a matter of "disloyalty" but as a matter of ideology. For the end result in the same—internal weakness means less armament and less resistance to political subjugation by Soviet Russia.

Two things are absolutely vital for America to do—to build up the armament strength of the European democracies and to build up their respective economic situations.

More armament is needed not so much to meet a Soviet threat of military operation, for that seems unlikely, but primarily to bolster the morale of the democratic peoples—to make them feel secure.

Economic aid from America, but better handled and better allocated, is essential to prevent the opposition politicians from exploiting the weaknesses that mean votes for those who would tear down democracy under the guise of socialistic reform.

Marshall Plan aid has been a lifesaver. Hindsight tells us many mistakes were made—this seems to be admitted even by American officials now—and much money was not spent wisely. But that doesn't mean economic aid should be discontinued. It is more than ever necessary. A brief picture of each country follows:

1. Great Britain is on the edge of bankruptcy. She cannot find a market for her exports. She is lacking in raw materials. She is suffering from the effects of a disintegrating empire trade and from internal troubles which the proposals and schemes of nationalization and paternalism are not solving. A "left wing" government with extreme ideas about reducing armament and doing what the Soviets want done is a distinct possibility in Britain unless the Churchill government gets help and also develops a little more political agility than it has shown.

2. France is in the hands of a loose coalition of parties which is not as strong as Premier Pinay's reputation for strength has lately led the outside world to believe. Pinay is not a big man and his successes in winning a parlimentary majority are due to the readiness of opposition parties to let him, for the time being, bear the burden of some economic legislation of an unpalatable nature on wages and prices that none of them would like to sponsor. The strong man in France is former Premier Plevin, whose statesmanship, if given an opportunity, will some day save France. But the situation is touch and go at the moment with the Communists in position to do harm to the government. The recent raids on Communist leaders would seem to indicate an awareness of the Communist danger but it is a belated recognition of what has been going on all along.

3. Germany is the weakest of all, though it has the reputation of having "recovered." The Germans are industrious and have done wonders in rebuilding some of their plants. But West Germany cannot support her big debt or survive as an economic unit without East Germany, where 20,000,000 Germans are under Soviet rule. The Socialist opposition in Germany hates the Communists but plays into their hands by keeping up a nationalistic attack on the Adenauer government. The crisis here in a year or so away but when the elections happen next year the wholde world will be nervous because it does look as if the Socialists may come into power.

4. Italy is in a weaker position than is generally known. Here unemployment is giving opposition parties a big talking point. Italy wants a market for her goods and a reduction of tariff barriers and she wants as a stopgap some orders for military equipment. In Italy, however, not only are the Communists active but the Fascists are rising again, aided and abetted by the monarchists. Opposition to the De Gasperi government is stimulated by a popular feeling that under Mussolini there was employment and "good times."

Europe is ripe for dictatorships again. Democracy is in serious trouble everywhere. The same conditions which gave Hitler and Mussolini their opportunities to exploit weaknesses are present again though not yet of the same intensity as before.

Russia has from her standpoint been wise in declining to march across Europe in the last few years. It is so much easier for her to pursue her present strategy of boring from within the democracies.

The biggest single danger for the European democracies today is the recurrence of an economic depression in the United States such as began in the early 'thirties, as it might cut off economic aid. The next biggest danger is the election of an American president who turns his back on Europe on the theory that he can serve the United States by drastic reduction of taxes and less appropriations at the expense of a disintegrating Europe. That's the time when Soviet Russia will take over Europe — for there are Frenchmen, Italians, Germans and some Britons who, like the ill-fated democrats of Czechoslovakia, believe in a deal with Moscow. It seems improbable that any of the men mentioned for the presidency of the United States on either ticket would be so shortsighted. It is more likely instead that whoever gets into office will, on learning all the facts, continue to help Europe both militarily and economically. But Europeans are apprehensive just the same that their fate is somehow bound up in the 1952 American elections.

Great Interest Is Displayed in Selection of MacArthur as GOP Keynoter

Aside from the larger question of whether Senator Taft's supporters will so control the GOP convention as to "force" Taft's nomination, editors are especially interested in the selection of General MacArthur as GOP keynoter. While a considerable minority of editors argues that MacArthur will make an inspiring speech, neutral as between candidates, the large majority feels that MacArthur, as a Taft supporter, does not qualify for the traditionally neutral role of keynoter.—Most editors feel that MacArthur should resign, or at least retire, from military service before engaging in such open political activity.

Trenton (N.J.) Times (Ind.): "Unless MacArthur asks for retirement beforehand, he will be openly violating military regulations in making the keynote speech at the Republican convention. The most serious objection to the MacArthur selection, however, lies in the fact that he is a Taft partisan who has not hesitated to show his hostility to General Eisenhower's candidacy. . . . One of the responsibilities of a keynoter is that of eliminating the divisive effects of a bitter preconvention campaign and restoring unity. It is difficult to see how this purpose can be accomplished by General MacArthur . . ."

Cincinnati (Ohio) Times-Star (Rep.): "The choice is regarded as a victory for Taft . . . . But a neutral speech is expected. The job of a keynoter is to set the tempo for the election campaign, whoever the nominee. . . . Some question was raised in advance about MacArthur's status as an army officer. But there was also some question in the minds of Pentagon legalists as to whether Eisenhower can publicly criticize administration leaders, even though he has been granted retirement. Neither man has resigned from the service, but the army will not interfere."

Boston (Mass.) Traveler (Ind,): "Eisenhower retired and went off the army payroll. Even at that, he has to watch what he says until he comes up with a full resignation. That should be MacArthur's cue to go after a full resignation himself—to look civilian life squarely in the eye and exclaim, 'I have returned!' . . . He has made it clear that he's for Taft and doesn't like Ike. That in itself makes him a poor choice for the keynote post, where a man is supposed to stand squarely in the middle of his own party and slash away at all angles of the enemy's party."

Charlotte (N.C.) News (Ind.-Dem.): "We find no fault with the selection. It was a gracious gesture. It will swing the spotlights and the cameras once more upon the jut-jawed countenance so well known to all the peoples of the world. . . . The General will enjoy his moment. We will enjoy listening once again to the rolling rhetoric and the sounding sonority of those meticulous phrases. And then, having honored MacArthur, the Republicans can get down to the business of selecting a candidate who looks to the pressing and the uncertain future instead of to a glorious past."

Hempstead (N.Y.) Newsday (Ind.): "Logic and good sense should tell the Taft people that

TRUMAN IS SHREWD POLITICIAN

Even his stoutest enemies concede that President Truman is a shrewd politician and a tough campaigner. As has been widely noted, he is already embarked on his 1952 campaign for the Democrats, and plainly intends to keep his early pace. His speech to Congress on seizure powers and the Taft-Hartley act fits right into that program.

It's old stuff that Mr. Truman faithfully avoids use of the Taft-Hartley law wherever possible because of its red-flag character in the minds of labor officials. The current steel situation has been no exception; it merely proved the rule.

When the President addressed Congress, he explained why he didn't want to use the law: he considered it would do more harm than good. He didn't say all he may have meant by that, for he could well have included "harm to the Democrats."

What he really was doing was to set a trap for his opposition, chiefly the Republicans and southern Democrats. Though it is his business to enforce the laws of this country, he tossed back to Congress the matter of whether Taft-Hartley should be used in this instance. He may easily have guessed that his opponents would brush aside his own alternative—seizure—to insist on use of the law labor hates.

The Senate promptly obliged him by voting 49 to 30 to request him to use Taft-Hartley. What the Senate did does not have the force of law. But if the President should now choose to employ Taft-Hartley, he may turn to union labor and say: "I didn't want to use it, but the Senate forced my hand."

The trap, in other words, was Mr. Truman's apparently successful effort to shift to Congress the blame for resorting to that act. It leaves him clean, in labor's eyes, and put the onus upon Congress. And since the Republicans voted 31 to 3 for use of Taft-Hartley, they must bear the brunt of responsibility.

Depending on your viewpoint, this may all be either shrewd campaigning or playing politics with the nation's steel output. But there can be little question that it is effective with workers, who are still one of the strongest elements in the Democratic coalition that has won the White House steadily since 1932.

The Republicans may see no profit to themselves in trying to ape Mr. Truman. They may have no real hope of winning the bulk of the labor vote this fall. But all signs indicate they will need some of it. And hence they are faced with the formidable task of devising a strategy to counter the President's course.

If they cannot keep from falling into Mr. Truman's traps, they at least should find some way to set a few of their own. As it stands, they are playing his game.

WELCOME CHANGE

One of the best signs of the improved posture of the Western nations is the way in which French authorities have dealt with the series of Communist uprisings that greeted General Ridgway's arrival in Paris.

A few years ago French leaders would have trembled at the idea of clapping a top Communist like Jacques Duclos into jail and raiding Red headquarters.

But this is 1952. France is stronger militarily and economically, as is many another nation in the North Atlantic alliance. The French understand Red tactics for what they are, and are not afraid to call Moscow's bluff. So Duclos resides in jail and Red headquarters all over Paris have been ransacked.

It may not be as easy to cope with Communist strike maneuvers, but everything indicates equal firmness will be mustered for that battle.

Most persons figure that they should work eight hours and sleep eight hours a day. It's the fellow who tries to do both at the same time who gets into difficulties.

Pussy footing around seems a sure way to go to the dogs.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE FASCIST TREND

It is not an altogether unexpected phenomenon that in both Germany and Italy, a reversion to Fascism should be apparent. The alternatives are communism or the American form of capitalism.

In the United States, during the past two decades, a deification of the word, democracy, has been sponsored by both government and many organs of the people. Unfortunately, the word itself has so many meanings as to be meaningless. Certainly, to one who is not an American, the glorification of the word seems peculiar and even queer, because there is no evidence that any aspect of political, social or economic democracy, in definable terms, is practiced here.

The method employed by Americans to select public officials is remote from democracy; we enjoy a representative, republican government, operating through two mechanistic political parties. While the people can and do select, for president or many other offices, one of the two candidates offered by these parties, it is rare that anyone can be chosen independently of them. The choice of the people is funneled through the parties. There is no mob rule, no shouting of the Demos.

Similarly, while capitalism is often referred to as free enterprise, its purpose is to produce goods and services but also to create reservoirs of privately owned capital by encouraging the accrual of private profit. The tendency of government to engage in competitive business with private individuals, either directly or indirectly by loans and subsidies, involves a movement away from the American economic system toward European Social Democracy. As this trend expands, particularly in the nature of controls, Europeans note that the United States is imitating Europe and not vice versa.

Socially, the American people reject the European concept of democracy, which is equality. Racial discrimination is not the only social barrier in this country. As long as the fundamental American concept of equality of economic opportunity prevailed, no elite class was able to survive long in this country, although it always existed. The graduated income tax is stratifying American society, for only those who possess inherited wealth or are corrupt can acquire the means to move toward social equality. The rest pay taxes and grow constantly poorer through depreciated currency.

Also, the militarization of this country by siphoning youth off during the most important formative years, a system we have copied from continental Europe, delays the opportunities of young people to establish themselves. To this delay must be added the dangerous increase of city population which tends to turn citizens into proletarians.

This the Europeans witness objectively. They are offered wonderful means to a non-existent democracy and are asked to imitate a system we do not use ourselves.

To Americans, our way is satisfactory with all its imperfections. In fact, most of us prefer the imperfections because they protect our liberties. As Estes Kefauver said in his book "A 20th Century Congress":

". . . Those multiple proposals rubber-stamped by a dazed Congres did not alter the fundamentals of the American government. Proof of this fact lies in the high percentage of those hastily enacted laws that passed the test of constitutionality before the Supreme Court. Unlike another strong, but in that case malevolent, leader in a nascent democracy beset by grave problems, our Executive did not demand goose-stepping, heils, and the absolution of the fuehrer principle. That is fortunate. The people might have been tempted to try such nostrums."

It is because we are loose in our definitions and not very effective in our government that we have not gone crazy over the counterparts of Hitler and Mussolini or Stalin. We take our great men in our stride and recognize that no one is so big that he does not look pot-bellied and bandy-legged in the secrecy of the bath. At such things we laugh and we vote for them.

The Europeans say we are immature. They want a political, economic and social system that is orderly. Our use of the word, democracy, only confuses them. It is a disorderly word, meaning anything that anyone wants it to mean. I have waited for several years, for instance, for some philosopher of the Americans for Democratic Action to supply a precise definition of their basic philosophy in universal terminology.

They have not been able to do anything like that. Nor has the Voice of America. Therefore, Europe goes its merry way toward "ordnung," but now in the Fascistic form.

That Body of Yours

ACCIDENTS KILL MANY CHILDREN

At the beginning of the century about three children of every 10 died at birth or during the first year. Today, because children's diseases are prevented in great measure by immunizing children against children's infectious diseases, the death rate has been reduced by over 200 per cent. However, we read every day of one or more children being burned to death, poisoned, or killed in accidents, traffic or other types, and in the majority of these cases, the parents are to blame.

In advertising their Eighth National Health Week, the Health League of Canada put a list of health facts into the hands of all physicians, public speakers, editors and clergymen.

Among these facts was the statement that accidents are greater child killers than 10 top infectious diseases. Here are a dozen vital safety rules for every parent to follow.

1. Don't leave drugs and medicines within reach of children. Always keep them in a cupboard out of reach.
2. Don't leave cleaning fluids, insecticides, rat poisons and similar household articles within reach of children.
3. Don't leave a child alone in a room where there is boiling water or other hot fluids, even though you think he cannot reach it. Don't let handles of utensils holding these fluids extend beyond stove or table.
4. Don't let children play with matches or fire. Keep matches in a cupboard out of reach.
5. Don't leave scissors, knives, open tins, pins, razor blades and other sharp instruments where children can get hold of them.
6. Don't make it easy for your child to fall and injure himself on loose rugs, stair pads, and loose edges on linoleum. Have protective screens on windows or fix them so that they cannot be opened too far.
7. Don't leave the wringer or washing machine going for even a second while you are not watching it.
8. Don't have defective electric cords in the home or let the child handle electric appliances.
9. Don't let infants play with or wear ornaments small enough for them to swallow.
10. Don't leave firearms, even though unloaded, where a child can reach them.
11. Don't let children play unsupervised in the streets, until they have learned to keep off the road.
12. Don't let children play unsupervised near the water. Teach them to swim as soon as possible.

Another Triumph of Communist Efficiency

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Attorney General James McGranery has now been in office long enough to pass a snap judgment on one of the most important cases handled by his predecessors, The American President Lines, and to settle it in favor of the man to whom he owes a great debt for ramming his confirmation through the Senate — Pat McCarran of Nevada.

Therefore, it's not unfair to call his attention to certain things that have been going on around him which he should investigate.

McGranery, when appointed, made eloquent promises of a corruption cleanup. Since his appointment he has made no moves in that direction, has appointed no one to handle a cleanup, and indicates he will continue the chief of the criminal division, James McInerney, who should have been prosecuting corruption all along, but didn't.

Accordingly, here is the first of some "memos to McGranery" regarding smelly situations existing right under his nose which he should detect by the smell—if his olfactory nerves aren't deadened by long exposure to decay!

"Memo to McGranery"

Take a look, Mr. Attorney General, at the manner in which 8,633,000 pounds of rope—all the surplus rope in the national inventory—was sold to Russia. Also, please take a look at how the man who sold it is now dealing with the Navy Department, has his wife on the navy payroll, and entertains admirals and navy officers at his home.

The man in question is Walter Lester Henry Beecher Van Dyke, a manufacturers' agent or "five percenter," living at Vienna, Va., a suburb of Washington.

His purchase of rope for Russia included about all the sisal and henequen rope the army had as surplus after the war, and it was sold in 1947, at a time when our relations with the Soviet were on the worsening side.

Unfortunately, your old colleagues in Congress, Mr. Attorney General, were partly to blame for this, because they listened to the lobbyists after the war and passed a surplus property act requiring the armed services to sell off their surplus to the highest bidder. Russia came along as the highest bidder through Van Dyke, and so war assets carried out the law.

Front for Russians

In arranging the sale, Van Dyke worked through the Rogers International Corp., which operated for the Soviet. After the bid was accepted June 30, 1947, the army quite rightly rebelled at admitting Russian inspectors into army warehouses to look at the rope.

Therefore, Rogers International secured American inspectors to check the rope, rejected several thousand pounds, and tried to renegotiate the contract in order to buy at half price. The agreed price was only nine cents a pound.

Meanwhile, non-Communist Finland, which has a record of paying its debts to this country, started searching frantically for rope, which was hard to get. It offered 19 cents a pound in New Orleans, 25 cents in San Francisco, for the same identical rope for which the Russians were paying nine cents. In the end, Finland managed to get the "damaged" rope, but the big bulk had already been shipped to "undestined ports in the USSR" at half what the taxpayers had to pay and far less than the Finns were eager to pay.

Shift to Navy

The man who engineered this deal has now shifted his operations to the navy. He had a natural "in" there because his wife, Mrs. Winifred Van Dyke, is a civilian employe at navy headquarters. Her record at the navy seems to be satisfactory, though she admits receiving calls for her husband over her navy phone.

However, through his wife, five-percenter Van Dyke was able to cultivate the navy brass, until his private bar on Saturday night looked like a small edition of a navy officers' club.

His home, now valued at $75,000, features a sumptuous bar in the basement, and since he bought the place he has put in $40,000 worth of improvements.

Here Van Dyke throws lavish parties, sometimes featuring such delicacies as pheasant, wild duck, and champagne. Here also Rear Adm. John Wood, chief of the Norfolk supply center, lived for several weeks last fall, while another high-ranking guest has been Capt. Fred Hetter, assistant chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

Hetter, when questioned, denied knowing anything about Van Dyk's business, claimed the lobbyist had never discussed business or asked any favors from him.

Deals in Electronics

Another navy man in Van Dyke's circle of friends is Leon Godeby, who passes on electronics designs and recommends who should get navy electronic contracts. While Godeby doesn't have final authority, his word can be persuasive.

It's highly interesting, therefore, that most of Van Dyke's business with the navy is negotiating electronics contracts. It's also interesting that Van Dyke's navy friends have been developed in a short time. For instance, Godeby didn't meet Van Dyke until nine months ago. Yet, in that nine months, he got to know the five-percenter so well that he asked Van Dyke to stand up as best man at his son's recent wedding.

Godeby, when interviewed, denied accepting any favors from Van Dyke, and denied giving him any inside navy information. He admitted that Van Dyke had offered him a job and that he had considered going to work for him.

Since electronic devices are the most important secrets the navy has, ranking right next to the atom bomb, it would seem that naval officers or naval experts should not indulge in conviviality with a purchasing agent who arranged for the sale of all surplus rope to Russia, and that the whole matter should come under the eye of the new attorney general who has vowed so pleasantly but inconclusively that he would clean up Washington.

Today in Europe

Insecurity of Europe Is Main Item Gleaned From Trip to Continent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

En Route From Europe, June 17—After several weeks in Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, the main impression which this correspondent carries back home is that Europe is insecure. It is insecure politically, economically and spiritually. It is suffering from the shell-shock of war and despite outward appearances of normalcy, Europe is a long way from stability or safety.

A Third World War along the lines of World War I or War 2 is improbable for the simple reason that, without the firing of a shot or the march of a single army corps, Europe is ripe for Soviet plucking.

There exists in every country a Soviet apparatus which has infiltrated the opposition parties, the press, the radio and the educational institutions and which guides the internal battle constantly in the direction of political and economic chaos. Democracy is slowly coming to realize the danger but still foolishly tolerates the very abuses of liberty that can lead to its own destruction.

Soviet Russia's strategy is to influence and bring into control of the various governments the parties that will play the Communist game—not as a matter of "disloyalty" but as a matter of ideology. For the end result in the same—internal weakness means less armament and less resistance to political subjugation by Soviet Russia.

Two things are absolutely vital for America to do—to build up the armament strength of the European democracies and to build up their respective economic situations.

More armament is needed not so much to meet a Soviet threat of military operation, for that seems unlikely, but primarily to bolster the morale of the democratic peoples—to make them feel secure.

Economic aid from America, but better handled and better allocated, is essential to prevent the opposition politicians from exploiting the weaknesses that mean votes for those who would tear down democracy under the guise of socialistic reform.

Marshall Plan aid has been a lifesaver. Hindsight tells us many mistakes were made—this seems to be admitted even by American officials now—and much money was not spent wisely. But that doesn't mean economic aid should be discontinued. It is more than ever necessary. A brief picture of each country follows:

1. Great Britain is on the edge of bankruptcy. She cannot find a market for her exports. She is lacking in raw materials. She is suffering from the effects of a disintegrating empire trade and from internal troubles which the proposals and schemes of nationalization and paternalism are not solving. A "left wing" government with extreme ideas about reducing armament and doing what the Soviets want done is a distinct possibility in Britain unless the Churchill government gets help and also develops a little more political agility than it has shown.

2. France is in the hands of a loose coalition of parties which is not as strong as Premier Pinay's reputation for strength has lately led the outside world to believe. Pinay is not a big man and his successes in winning a parlimentary majority are due to the readiness of opposition parties to let him, for the time being, bear the burden of some economic legislation of an unpalatable nature on wages and prices that none of them would like to sponsor. The strong man in France is former Premier Plevin, whose statesmanship, if given an opportunity, will some day save France. But the situation is touch and go at the moment with the Communists in position to do harm to the government. The recent raids on Communist leaders would seem to indicate an awareness of the Communist danger but it is a belated recognition of what has been going on all along.

3. Germany is the weakest of all, though it has the reputation of having "recovered." The Germans are industrious and have done wonders in rebuilding some of their plants. But West Germany cannot support her big debt or survive as an economic unit without East Germany, where 20,000,000 Germans are under Soviet rule. The Socialist opposition in Germany hates the Communists but plays into their hands by keeping up a nationalistic attack on the Adenauer government. The crisis here in a year or so away but when the elections happen next year the wholde world will be nervous because it does look as if the Socialists may come into power.

4. Italy is in a weaker position than is generally known. Here unemployment is giving opposition parties a big talking point. Italy wants a market for her goods and a reduction of tariff barriers and she wants as a stopgap some orders for military equipment. In Italy, however, not only are the Communists active but the Fascists are rising again, aided and abetted by the monarchists. Opposition to the De Gasperi government is stimulated by a popular feeling that under Mussolini there was employment and "good times."

Europe is ripe for dictatorships again. Democracy is in serious trouble everywhere. The same conditions which gave Hitler and Mussolini their opportunities to exploit weaknesses are present again though not yet of the same intensity as before.

Russia has from her standpoint been wise in declining to march across Europe in the last few years. It is so much easier for her to pursue her present strategy of boring from within the democracies.

The biggest single danger for the European democracies today is the recurrence of an economic depression in the United States such as began in the early 'thirties, as it might cut off economic aid. The next biggest danger is the election of an American president who turns his back on Europe on the theory that he can serve the United States by drastic reduction of taxes and less appropriations at the expense of a disintegrating Europe. That's the time when Soviet Russia will take over Europe — for there are Frenchmen, Italians, Germans and some Britons who, like the ill-fated democrats of Czechoslovakia, believe in a deal with Moscow. It seems improbable that any of the men mentioned for the presidency of the United States on either ticket would be so shortsighted. It is more likely instead that whoever gets into office will, on learning all the facts, continue to help Europe both militarily and economically. But Europeans are apprehensive just the same that their fate is somehow bound up in the 1952 American elections.

But there was also some question in the minds of Pentagon legalists as to whether Eisenhower can publicly criticize administration leaders, even though he has been granted retirement. Neither man has resigned from the service, but the army will not interfere."

Boston (Mass.) Traveler (Ind.): "Eisenhower retired and went off the army payroll. Even at that, he has to watch what he says until he comes up with a full resignation. That should be MacArthur's cue to go after a full resignation himself—to look civilian life squarely in the eye and exclaim, 'I have returned!' . . . He has made it clear that he's for Taft and doesn't like Ike. That in itself makes him a poor choice for the keynote post, where a man is supposed to stand squarely in the middle of his own party and slash away at all angles of the enemy's party."

Charlotte (N.C.) News (Ind.-Dem.): "We find no fault with the selection. It was a gracious gesture. It will swing the spotlights and the cameras once more upon the jut-jawed countenance so well known to all the peoples of the world. . . . The General will enjoy his moment. We will enjoy listening once again to the rolling rhetoric and the sounding sonority of those meticulous phrases. And then, having honored MacArthur, the Republicans can get down to the business of selecting a candidate who looks to the pressing and the uncertain future instead of to a glorious past."

Hempstead (N.Y.) Newsday (Ind.): "Logic and good sense should tell the Taft people that the risk they are taking is an unwise one. MacArthur is certain to warn the convention not to nominate a military man—his newest and most lethal pitch. Maybe he will bethink himself and deliver the sort of statesmanlike oration of which he is capable. In that case, he will be doing his last and greatest favor for his country. If not—if he lets personal passion and hatred for Ike sway him—the result will be damaging to the Republican party and perhaps ruinous to the stature of Douglas MacArthur as warrior and statesman."

Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer (Ind.-Dem.): "The selection of General MacArthur to deliver the keynote speech has no particular significance. He would have been invited to address the convention in any event. What difference would it make whether he delivered a speech advertised as the keynote of the convention, or just an ordinary speech, such as the one former President Hoover is scheduled to make? Besides, although MacArthur is on record as favoring Taft, we think he is smart enough to realize that his remarks would arouse considerable resentment if they could be construed as favoring one candidate over another."

Buffalo (N.Y) News (Ind.-Rep.): "The Eisenhower forces would not have been disposed to protest a decision to work MacArthur into the program as a convention speaker. What they did protest is the naming of an ardent backer of one candidate as the convention keynoter, a spot traditionally reserved for a neutral whose purpose is to strike a keynote of party unity. . . . The temporary chairman will be another all-out supporter of Taft, Walter S. Hallanan of West Virginia. He will be able to call all the parliamentary shots in the bitter contest over the seating of certain delegations. Here again, the idea of neutrality was discarded."

Opposes Fluoride in Water

June 12, 1952

Editor, The Freeman:

Sometime ago a health physician had a piece in the Kingston Freeman advising the city to put fluoride in our drinking water saying it was good for children's teeth. Let me state right here a person's whole body is far more important than children's teeth.

Kingston has good drinking water so let us keep it that way. It has a good taste and is good so don't put fluoride or anything else in it. If they put fluoride in it or anything else it will change the taste and make it worse. It's a good policy to let well enough alone.

We want the pure water. When they put something in the drinking water it is bound to have some bad effect on the whole body. If it is good for teeth it will be harmful to the whole body otherwise.

You should not believe all the public health officials tell you. Sometimes they will lie to you for their own selfish interest. Putting something in the drinking water would be a money-making scheme for some people. It would cost money to buy it and it would cost money to put it in there. It would be an unnecessary expense.

We don't want polluted drinking water.

All citizens of Kingston should unite and fight against this money-making and health-destroying scheme of putting something in our drinking water.

We want the clean, pure unpolluted drinking water.

Your health is worth far more than someone's pocketbook or bank account.

I advise the citizens of Kingston to write to the city officials to keep our drinking water pure and unadulterated and unpolluted and leave this important matter up to the citizens of Kingston to vote on at election time.

One time I met a fellow from Jersey who was up here working on a project and he said to me you have good drinking water here. He said all he did since he came here is drink, drink and drink this water.

Respectfully yours,
HENRY, ROOSA,

1. WHAT OTHER TRAVEL can match the fun of meals on wheels? The sparklingly set table in your New York Central diner. The varied menu. The steward and waiter who seem to guess your wishes. And every tempting dish served up with a big helping of scenery on the side!

2. A MEAL A MINUTE is freshly prepared in this compact, stainless-steel kitchen. Into it and its adjoining pantry are nested more than 4,000 pans, dishes, glasses, pieces of table silver and linen. And they are bought mainly from makers along New York Central, in towns like yours!

3. STOCKING THE PANTRIES of Central's dining car fleet is done at commissaries. In a year, we buy 620,000 pounds of prime beef, 670,000 quarts of grade A milk, 400,000 dozen nest-fresh eggs, 105,000 pounds of butter, 120,000 pounds of flour, plus fine fruit and vegetables.

4. THAT ALL ADDS UP to a yearly food bill of more than $3,400,000 for New York Central. Most goes to farmers in Central's area. And that helps local merchants. So dining car service is another way your Railroad is part of every community on its lines. And that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

When East opened the bidding with one no-trump, West looked at his own hand with a mixture of ambition and caution. Should he try for game, or should he pass? It was a borderline decision, and West could easily be wrong no matter what he decided to do.

While West was wondering what to do, South broke the silence with a very doubtful overcall of two spades. Now West had no further problems. He could double for penalties even though his trump holding consisted of three very small cards.

The theory of this type of double is very simple. The opening no-trump bid shows about three spades in a hand that contains almost half the high cards in the deck. West's hand contains three spades and two good high cards.

The combined hands therefore contain far more than half of the high cards and almost half of the trumps. How can South make eight tricks against this combination?

West opened the ace of clubs and continued the-suit, East winning with the jack. East easily recognized the lead as an attempt at a ruff with a doubleton, so he returned his low club at once for West to ruff.

West knew that East still had the king of clubs and that South still had a losing club, so the right defense was easy for him to find. He returned a trump, allowing East to clear the trumps out of the dummy.

South still had to lose another club in addition to the two red aces. Declarer therefore won only six tricks, suffering a penalty of 300 points. This was quite satisfactory to West in view of the fact that his side had no game.

The importance of West's double is best seen if we note what happens if West passes the overcall of two spades. What is East to do then? If he doubles, he may discover that his partner has a completely worthless hand; and if he passes, he may let South get away with murder.

Caucuses Slated By Ulster GOP

Republican city and county caucuses will be held Saturday evening, June 21, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of election of three delegates to attend the Ulster county Republican convention to be held at the municipal auditorium on Saturday, June 28, at 11 a. m.

There is a short county ticket to be elected this fall. Nominations will be made at the convention for county treasurer, district attorney and coroner.

In addition presidential electors, United States senator, delegates to the judicial convention, a representative in Congress from the 29th District, a New York State senator from the 34th Senatorial district and a member of Assembly from this district will be named by the convention.

At the present time there appears to be at least three contenders for the county treasurer's job to succed John E. Groves. The names of two supervisors, Claude Bell of Olive and Albert N. Cook of the first ward and ex-supervisor Horace Boice of the town of Ulster are being mentioned.

It is also reliably reported that District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn will not run again for re-election and that a possible candidate may be Howard C. St. John, Kingston attorney.

Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson is also reported to be retiring from the office of coroner and a southern Ulster man probably will be named, that candidate might come from the Wawarsing area.

Boy's Body Found

Barrytown, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—The body of 7-year-old Bruce Pickert, of Barrytown, was recovered from the Hudson river last night near the pier from which he fell into the water Sunday night. Dutchess county deputy sheriffs, reporting the recovery today, said the boy was playing with other children when he slipped off the pier.

Forts Go to Germany

The sea contains from 5 to 276 parts of gold per 100 million parts of water.

City Anniversary Board to Assemble

A meeting of the entire board of directors of the Kingston 300th Anniversary committee has been called by President Stanley Matthews for this evening at 8 o'clock at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

At that time there will be a review of the events thus far in the observance and plans will be discussed for the pageant which will be held on July 23, 24, 25 and 26 and also the art show which will be held from July 16 through August 17 in connection with the celebration. Also to be discussed will be arrangements for the September 10 observance of the founding of the State of New York government 175 years ago when the first legislature met here. Plans for the sale of souvenier booklets and the postage stamps will come before this meeting.

May Boost Prices

Washington, June 17 (AP)—Department stores now may boost prices on most of their goods starting next Monday. The increases allowed range from a penny or two on small items to a dollar or more on furniture, radio and television sets. But the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) doesn't expect most price tags to be upped. It said many products now are selling below ceilings and the actual prices are determined by competition. OPS authorized the increases yesterday to offset a rise in freight and parcel post rates since May, 1951.

Fossils of animals which died in the sea are much more often preserved than those which died on land.

Metal Trades Gets Agent Designation

The Kingston Metal Trades Council, AFL, has been certified as bargaining agent for workers at three local shipyards, George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent, announced today.

Notification of the certification was contained in a letter received by the Metal Trades Council today from Charles T. Douds, regional director for the Second Region, National Labor Relations Board.

The letter revealed that the objections which had been filed on May 22 by the CIO union had been withdrawn by that union on June 13, and the NLRB certified the AFL group on that date.

The shipyards concerned in the decision are Hiltebrant's, Island Dock, and Feeney's shipyards.

Soldier Is Acquitted Of Conductor's Murder

Terre Haute, Ind., June 17 (AP)—A Vigo county circuit court jury deliberated only 22 minutes yesterday in acquitting Pfc. William J. Waters, 21, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., of manslaughter charges.

Waters was charged with striking and causing the death of conductor Paul Wendholt, 63, on a Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad train last April 19.

Wendholt collapsed and died of a heart attack after the altercation. Defense attorney Thomas M. Patrick told the jury the state failed to prove that the blow caused the heart attack.

The soldier was absent without leave from Camp Breckinridge, Ky., and will be turned over to authorities at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., Tuesday.

Boy Scout News

323 Boys Attend Rip Van Winkle Scout Camporee

A total of 323 boys and 60 leaders attended the weekend Camporee of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Camp Tri-Mount, June 13 to 15. The boys were from 28 troops, subdivided into 48 patrols.

First place winner, based on points awarded for the "Adventure Trail" and troop inspections, was Troop 11, sponsored by St. James Methodist Church of Kingston, under Richard Waltman, Scoutmaster. The troop earned a total of 553 points. Troop 10, Ulster Hose Company, was close second with 550½ points, and Troop 12, First Dutch Church, was third with 536 points. Russell Smith is scoutmaster of Troop 10, and Ralph Shapiro, scoutmaster of Troop 12.

Test of Skill

The "Adventure Trail" was a five-mile-long trail, with seven stations, each manned by a council official. Scouts, in patrols, left the starting point at five-minute intervals. As each patrol approached a station, its members were required to demonstrate a Scouting skill. Upon successful completion of the demonstration, the council official gave the patrol a card, and the patrol then proceeded to the next station.

The daily inspections were based on general appearance of site, cooking and food handling and preparation, sanitation, and cleanliness.

Officers Help

Council officers who helped in organization and leadership at the Camporee included Robert Tremper, neighborhood commissioner of the Kingston district; Val Morrow, council commissioner, of Maplecrest; William Plimley, Saugerties district commissioner; George Matthews, retiring council president; Ray Quackenbush, new council president; and George V. Dennis, Scout executive.

A highlight of the Camporee was Saturday night's campfire, with skits by Troops 8, 72 and 12, and a talk on the history of the Flag by Robert Shellenberger of Troop 8. Songs were led by Robert Tremper and George Dennis.

Sunday morning, Scouts and Scouters of the Catholic faith attended Mass said by Father Brown of Cairo, and Protestant Scouts attended services at which the Rev. William Comstock of Windham officiated.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 17, 1952.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. Alice Brew of 18 Hone street brought me an exquisite cake plate or platter of Ironstone China, with Washington's Headquarters of Newburgh, N. Y., 1783-1883 printed on it. There are two crossed flags showing 15 stars each. I am not a judge of such items and best I could do was to advise her to go down to Newburgh and have it appraised down there, then perhaps she would know its true worth. Often I am shown old books and the first thing the owner asks me very seriously is "How much do you think its worth." I cannot say, except the most you can get. I guess its a case of "Buy low and sell high" when it comes to items like that. But when it comes to sentimental items like the above plate which was handed down in the family, and birthday cakes were placed on it from time to time, it is worth most to the owner.

Looking back to "Easter Shopping" in The Kingston Daily Freeman of March 24, 1921, Rose Gorman Rose was having quite a sale. In fact to my way of thinking they were very high. For instance, Dolmans, coats and cape wraps were selling for $12.97 to $79; suits were $41.97 and dresses for every occasion were from $12.97 to $56. Easter footwear at the same store which advertised "Everything for Everybody . . . Kingston's Leading Store" had ladies' black ooze calf for $12; ladies' pearl gray suede for $12. Under new spring hosiery they had ladies' all silk fancy hose from $2.50 to $3.50. Now that is a lot to pay for a pair of stockings, I don't care what they are made out and then get a run in them the first wearing. They also had ladies' embroidery silk hose from $2.97 to $3.50.

Looking down further in the half page advertisement of Rose-Gorman-Rose I see under cotton goods for Easter Week—Hills Pillow cases for only 39 cents; table damask were from 59 cents to 97 cents.

Thirty one years ago The Freeman tells us that you could get 10 pounds of sugar at Borst—203 Foxhall avenue, for 85 cents. Fresh creamery butter was going for 56 cents. Snow Drift was 20 cents, eggs were 33 cents and coffee, all you want for 23 cents. At least you could have a good Easter dinner reasonably. Mohican had Friday specials of Hot Cross buns for 15 cents a dozen. His plate beef stew meat was going for 10 cents, lamb for two pounds for 15 cents. Yes, two pounds. Bacon was 28 cents a pound. Franks were 17 cents. His butter was way down to 45 cents a pound.

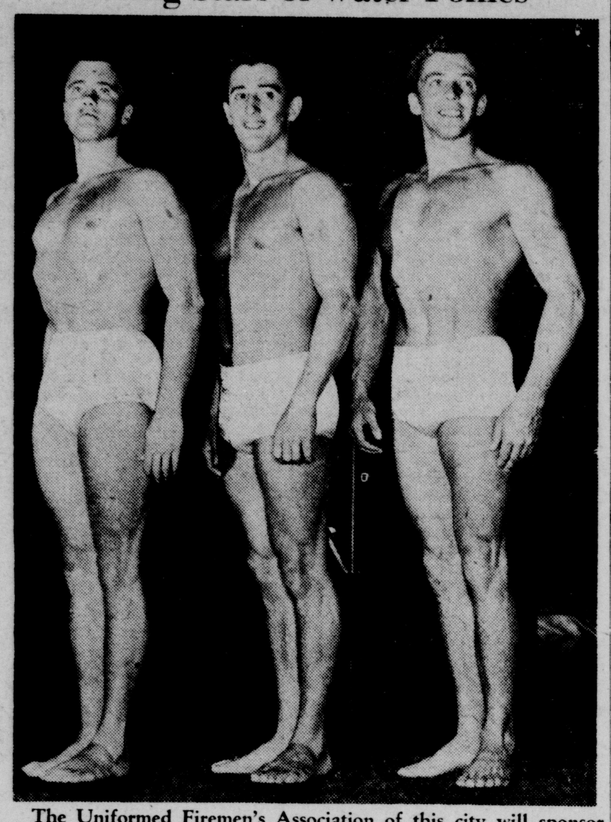
C. S. Wood at 297 and 299 Wall street were having their removal sale. They had a big lot of derby hats in black and brown for $1, also small size soft hats left at $1 and $1.50. But also "some Stetson and Knox good style derby hats in $10 grades at $5.

At 5 Mill street, A. Peterson were advertising fresh fish and mostly shad, also strictly fresh eggs. S. Baker & Son of 7 East Strand were having a removal sale also after 20 years in that location. I see McBride Drug Stores of 634 Broadway and 323 Wall street were having a food sale too. Rexall Opeko coffe, two pounds for 46 cents. Liggett's Opeko tea, two pounds for 56 cents. Cigarettes were going for $1.65 a carton. So I guess in 1921 clothes was high, food cheap.

New City College Head

New York, June 17 (AP)—Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, 48, assistant U. S. commissioner of education, has been named president of City College. Gallagher, the seventh president of the municipal college, succeeds Dr. Harry N. Wright, who will retire Sept. 1 after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 70. The rank of professor of education also will be given to Gallagher.

Diving Stars of Water Follies



The Uniformed Firemen's Association of this city will sponsor the Water Follies of 1952, world's largest aquacade and stage show, at the Municipal Stadium on July 3, 4 and 5. The Water Follies features world-champion divers and swimmers, famous stage acts, stage and water ballet group of girls, singing and dancing stars and comedy. Three of the diving stars shown above are Roger Nadeau, Barney Ciprani and Emile Hotte.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, June 17—Friday evening, June 20, a strawberry shortcake supper will be served in the Shokan Reformed Church basement under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, beginning at 5:30 p. m. Every one is invited to attend. Net proceeds of the food sale held May 29 in the local post office building was $27.35.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Martin Carlson and children, Lois, Allan and Larry, of Moorhead, Minn., are spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Carlson's sister, Mrs. Alf Edmundsen and family of Ashokan. Moorehead is Rexall druggist in the Minnesota town.

Resort proprietors in the Catskills are looking forward to a good season and a number of early signs would appear to bear out this optimism. The mountain people figure that old H.C.L. and the tightness of money in the big city will have a tendency to cause people to pass up long vacation trips and come instead to this comparatively nearby recreation sector.

One of the L. F. Ruckert bungalows in the village center has been rented for the season by May Cranston and daughter, Karena Lowenthal. The new comers were here during the weekend to get acquainted with their summer quarters. Mrs. Cranston is a friend of the Bernard Casablancas, also of the village center.

Echo of Waterworks Days: June 18, 1910—The Rev. Charles Palmer, former pastor of the Shokan Reformed Church in the old village, attends 200th anniversary of the Ponds Reformed Church, Oakland, N. J. Dominie Palmer commenced his ministry in this ancient and interesting charge. Harry J. DuBois has been appointed assistant postmaster at West Hurley to fill vacancy caused by the death of Humphrey Everett an old and prominent resident of the neighboring village.

Thomas Matland of New York spent the weekend here and was a guest at the Bertha Constable home across the road from the tavern and residence owned by him for several years. Tom has many local friends who were glad to see him again after an absence of several years.

Spellman Says Franco Popularity Is Obvious

New York, June 17 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, back from the Eucharistic Congress at Barcelona, says everybody in Spain "appeared to be enthusiastic" about Generalissimo Francisco Franco and "his popularity was obvious."

Spellman said the demonstration for the Spanish leader at Barcelona was comparable to the one Charles A. Lindbergh received here after his solo flight to Paris.

Franco attended the 35th International Eucharistic Congress.

Spellman returned yesterday on the liner Constitution with 500 other Roman Catholic pilgrims who attended the Congress and visited several countries.

One Pilot Dies, Other Injured

Albany, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—The pilot of a crop-dusting plane was killed and the pilot of another was injured yesterday in crashes upstate.

Roger Levi Tatro, 35, of Linlithgo, Columbia county, was killed just before dusk when his Piper Cub crashed into a field near Clermont and burst into flames.

Tatro had been dusting a vineyard on the farm of Vernon Rockefeller.

The cause of the crash was not known.

Wesley Holmes of Boston, a representative of the Piper Aircraft Corp. of Lockhaven, Pa., suffered head injuries when his plane crash-landed at Albany airport.

He was reported in "fairly good" condition at Albany Hospital.

Holmes was returning from Ballston Spa, where he had demonstrated crop-spraying for the State Conservation Department.

The cause of the crash was not determined. Observers reported they heard the engine go dead just before the plane rolled to the left and slipped into a dive.

Bombardment Power

A bombardment division of two medium jet bomber wings corresponds to an industry of 4,000 employes and a net worth of about 120 million dollars.

Kerhonkson

Kerhonkson, June 17 — The WCS of the Kerhonkson Federated Church served dinner Thursday evening to the Lions Club at the Church Hall, and at the Dyke Churchell auction in Kerhonkson Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Stancage and son, Vaughn Frank, came home from the Veteran's Memorial Hospital Thursday.

The Roger Baer Accordionairs, who previously appeared on Ted Mack's Amateur Hour a few weeks ago, last Sunday were on the program given by the intermediate and advanced students at the First Baptist Church, Kingston. Local students participating included Patricia Stockin, Carol Downs, Dorothea Shannon, Doris Anderson, Dana Feldshuh, Charlie Anderson, Sonya Anderson, Elizabeth Joyce and Margaret Davenport.

A strawberry festival will be held Sunday afternoon on the lawn of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Feldshuh. Proceeds will be for the girl scouts.

The seventh and eighth grades of the local school held a successful auction on Friday evening at the school. The money derived will be used to partially finance the annual class trip to Palisade Park.

Mrs. Eugene Munson has returned home here after spending several weeks with her son and family, at Saville, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Van Etten and children have returned home from vacation with her parents at Little Falls.

Valentine Panancciône is expected home from Italy early in July, and will be joined by his bride later.

Miss Barbara Decker and Vernon McGuffy, will be valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1952 graduating class, according to Supervising Principal Roland Riegel. Miss Decker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Decker of Kerhonkson and Vernon McGuffy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuffy, of Accord.

Tech. Sgt. and Mrs. Chester Gray and son, Thomas Arthur, arrived home as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Geary for a ten-day leave, after which Tech. Sgt. Gray will return to his home base at Scotts Field, Ill., and Mrs. Gray and son will remain for a longer stay here with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Yeager and family motored to Greenfield Park on Wednesday evening, where they visited their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Engle, Jr., and helped him and his father, Frederick Engle, Sr., celebrate their birthdays. Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pollack of Wawarsing, Mrs. Viola Van Etten and Nicholas Shematovich, recently returned from Alaska.

Lee Barnett Gets Television Contract

Lee Barnett, who went from local stardom in the entertainment field to coveted juvenile roles in musical comedy, has a spot on the Ford Hour television show, starting July 3.

His grandfather, Sam Barnett, uptown merchant, said today that Lee will have child parts on the Channel 4 show whenever programs call for a youngster.

Young Barnett recently finished an engagement with the road company of Peter Pan, the star of which was Veronica Lake.

Previous to traveling the nation, playing at the leading entertainment centers, Lee appeared in New York musicals, including Bless You All.

The youngster got his start in local entertainments as a song and dance specialist and his talents earned him promotion to the professional ranks.

Franks were 17 cents. His butter was way down to 45 cents a pound.

C. S. Wood at 297 and 299 Wall street were having their removal sale. They had a big lot of derby hats in black and brown for $1, also small size soft hats left at $1 and $1.50. But also "some Stetson and Knox good style derby hats in $10 grades at $5.

At 5 Mill street, A. Peterson were advertising fresh fish and mostly shad, also strictly fresh eggs. S. Baker & Son of 7 East Strand were having a removal sale also after 20 years in that location. I see McBride Drug Stores of 634 Broadway and 323 Wall street were having a food sale too. Rexall Opeko coffe, two pounds for 46 cents. Liggett's Opeko tea, two pounds for 56 cents. Cigarettes were going for $1.65 a carton. So I guess in 1921 clothes was high, food cheap.

Resort proprietors in the Catskills are looking forward to a good season and a number of early signs would appear to bear out this optimism. Lee Barnett Gets Television Contract

Lee Barnett, who went from local stardom in the entertainment field to coveted juvenile roles in musical comedy, has a spot on the Ford Hour television show, starting July 3.

His grandfather, Sam Barnett, uptown merchant, said today that Lee will have child parts on the Channel 4 show whenever programs call for a youngster.

Young Barnett recently finished an engagement with the road company of Peter Pan, the star of which was Veronica Lake.

Previous to traveling the nation, playing at the leading entertainment centers, Lee appeared in New York musicals, including Biess You All.

Reception Is Held For New Minister

Woodstock, June 17—A reception was held Thursday night in honor of the Rev. Kenneth Dearstyne, by three of the four Methodist churches, Shady, Woodstock and Wittenberg, which he will serve in the township. The Rev. Mr. Dearstyne, who arrived here several weeks ago with his wife and two daughters, Jane, three and a half, and Joanna, one and a half, was graduated from Houghton College this June, and will continue his studies for the Methodist ministry at Drew Seminary next fall.

A native of Pittstown, the Rev. Mr. Dearstyne served during World War 2, for three years in the signal corps and in the air force and was stationed in the South Pacific.

His previous charges in the Methodist church have been at Johnsonburg, near Buffalo, Machias and Sandusky, all in New York state.

Accomplished both in photography and in wood-working, the Rev. Mr. Dearstyne became intensely interested in the ministry while in service during the war, where he "saw so much of the world's need."

He will continue with the regular schedule of Sunday worship services at Willow, 9:30 a. m.; Woodstock 10:45 a. m.; Wittenberg, 12 noon; and Shady, 8 p. m.

Art Group Maps Plans for Summer

Woodstock, June 17—Plans for the summer season were discussed at the general membership meeting of the Woodstock Artists Association at the Art Gallery Friday night. Ralph Wickiser, president, asked for suggestions for shows which would meet the diversified interests of the members, and announced that the second exhibition at the gallery, from June 28 to July 10, would be a juried show of drawings and sculpture taking the foreground and the drawings in the background. From July 12 to 24, there will be an exhibition of paintings and from July 26 to August 14, the show will encompass all mediums. Recent paintings and sculpture will be on view from August 16 to September 4. Wickiser stated that possibly there will be memorial show of paintings by the late George Bellows in September.

Announcement was also made by Sidney Berkowitz that plans are underway for a second art film festival, probably during the second or third weekend in September. Berkowitz said that enough films are in progress in the European studios to make the festival possible, and that he had also learned during his recent trip abroad that two producers were waiting for the Woodstock festival to release their films. The festival will probably run from Thursday through Sunday, and will again be sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, the Film Advisory Center and the Woodstock Artists Association.

Edward Millman, reporting on extension activities, said that five different evening programs had been planned for the gallery, one of which would be the showing of the film, Louisiana Story, produced by Carl Maas, art consultant for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The other program announced will be a concert by John Cage, and his group, whose unorthodox "percussion instruments", which include flower pots, automobile brake drums, electric buzzers, tubs of water and many other sources of interesting and characteristic sounds, have been attracting the attention of New York music critics. Millman will be assisted in the plans for the other three evenings by Nahum Tschacbasov, Joseph Presser Arnold Blanch and Harvey Fite.

Association Unique

In reviewing the function of the Artists Association and the purpose of its gallery, Wickiser said that in "an association like this, we have something unique. With the emphasis on the personal pronoun today, many artists feel they cannot associate with anyone else. Art, however, should bring people together, and there is much we can do as a group."

To facilitate the work of the association during the coming summer, various committees were appointed. They were as follows: Sales—Norbert Heermann, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. George Berk, Helen Shotwell, Amy Small, Phoebe Towbin and Rosalie Berkowitz; publicity—Margaret Lowengrund, chairman, Barbara Fite, Frieda Borkmann, Edgar Bauman, Florine Solomon, Arthur Zaidenberg and Rosemary Thibaut; house and grounds — Norbert Heermann, chairman, Betsey Brown, Phoebe Towbin and Gladys Brodsky; exhibitions—Daniel Revan, chairman, Joseph Presser, Therese Kessel and Kurt Sluizer.

The graphic workshop in the basement of the gallery, under the direction of Margaret Lowengrund, is now in full operation with two double geared lithograph presses. Miss Lowengrund asked for contributions of materials which may be lying idle such as stones, etching press, etc. Encouraging experimental work among students, Miss Lowengrund will have as her associates in the project Albert Heckman, Rodney Lethbridge and Carl Fortess.

Through the kindness of Miss Alice Wardwell, the Artists Realty Company will reduce the rent of the gallery for the next 10 years, owing to the sale of shares to various artists through the efforts of Albert Heckman.

William J. Eisner, treasurer, reported on the gratifying amount of money which the association has received from the sale of The Art of The Artist, edited by Arthur Zaidenberg.

Other reports submitted were on membership by Mrs. Philip Fitz Patrick; and the secretary's by Doris Lee.

This year's bonus print, it was announced, will be by Edward Millman.

Ancient Guns Used In Sunday's Shoot

Woodstock, June 17—A unique event, probably the first of its kind so far as is known to club members, took place at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club Sunday afternoon. Benjamin DeGraff, Eugene Wilber, Bev Anderson and Everand Short, colorfully attired, displayed their markmanship skills using muzzle loaders, of the type popular in about 1840. The guns, about 80 to 100 years old, which are loaded by powder horn and ramrod, are from the collections of Eugene Wilber, E. A. Jurist, and Bev Anderson. Some of the equipment used for the exhibition was borrowed from Richard D. Short, gun collector.

Jurist, who assisted the marksmen with the display, said that the event, to this club's knowledge has never been done in any club, although there are muzzle loading clubs.

Considerable amusement was provided during the shoot when Bill Tuck, photographer, who was also shooting with camera and colored film, attempted to synchronize camera and blunderbuss explosions.

The club hopes to have a similar event in the near future with the competitors demonstrating their skill with flintlock guns of an earlier period.

Berkowitz Reports Paris Film Festival

Woodstock, June 17 — Sidney Berkowitz, who served as general chairman of the First Film Festival in America which was held at the Woodstock Playhouse last Labor Day weekend, has returned from an extended trip in Europe and reported that a similar festival will be held in Paris, France, June 25 and 26. The event is being sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, one of the three Woodstock sponsors, in association with UNESCO, Cinemateque Francaise, and the Friends of Art of France.

Twelve of the films to be included were shown at the Woodstock festival, along with 10 others which have been selected, all of which were done under the supervision and direction of Robert Morris, cultural officer of the U. S. Embassy in Paris. The entire program will be devoted to American and Pan-American subjects.

"The festival has been arranged," said Berkowitz, "because of the incessant demand on the part of the French people to see what is being done about art in the United States. Because of the great interest in art films in the U. S. it has been easy to show the French what a number of leading artists are doing."

Riding Club Gets Thanks for Support

Woodstock, June 17—The Woodstock Riding Club received a letter a few days ago from Brig. Gen. F. W. Boye, executive vice-president of the U. S. Equestrian Team, thanking the club for the wonderful support given in helping to send the team to Europe where the group is now exhibiting previous to participation in the Olympic Games.

The Woodstock Riding Club is again sponsoring a class—Class 15, young hunters—in the forthcoming horse show to be held at the club's Ohayo Mountain ring Sunday, June 29, the proceeds from which will be donated to the U. S. Equestrian Team.

Officials of the club report that entries for the horse show are coming in well, and that advance sales of general admissions and ringside parking spaces, are excellent.

To Install Murals

Woodstock, June 17—Three murals by Peggy Maguire will be installed in the Duchess County golf club house by June 21. The subjects depicted in the murals, which are a gift to the club by Thomas A. Corby, president, are an outdoor scene in northern Canada of a hunter returning home in his canoe, a Woodstock snow scene, and a seashore scene of the Gloucester, Mass., waterfront.

Married in Village

Woodstock, June 17—Miss Florence Liu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Liu, of Honolulu, and Robert Macaulay, of Marblehead, Mass., were married Friday morning at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Macaulay are spending a few days in Woodstock before returning to their home in New York. Macaulay is with the State Department.

Opens New Studio

Woodstock, June 17 —Bill Tuck well-known photographer, has opened a new studio on Main street, Liberty. Tuck will spend five days a week there.

To Teach at League

Woodstock, June 17—Doris Lee, painter and illustrator, will teach at the Art Students League, for two weeks beginning Tuesday, June 19, during the absence of Arnold Blanch who will lecture at the University of Ohio.

In the Ice Ages it is believed that eight million square miles of Europe and North America were covered by deep deposits of ice.

Merchants Plan July 4 Schedule, Do Other Business

At their Monday noon luncheon meeting, members of the Kingston Merchants Association (Uptown Branch) announced store hours for the July 4 period, discussed rural advertising and went on record as opposed to increases in parcel post.

During the session held at the Kirkland Hotel, the merchants, in line with their plan of picking up holiday business and at the same time make it convenient for customers to complete their weekly shopping, decided to follow the same schedule July 4 as they did for Memorial Day.

The stores will be open until 9 p. m. Thursday, July 3; closed all day Friday, July 4, and open until 5 p. m. Saturday, July 5.

Favoring repeal of recent increases in parcel post rates, the association directed its secretary to write Congressman J. Ernest Wharton to that effect.

The merchants also voted to distribute posters to all boarding houses and resorts within an approximate 50-mile radius of Kingston to promote business.

Proposal on the posters was made by Louis Kantrowitz who wrote: "With every natural advantage for happy vacationers, I cannot understand why we merchants don't take advantage of it by some type of progressive all year round advertising campaign. Don't forget this type of promotion must include every hotel and boarding house owner as well as assorted businesses."

It was also voted at the session, presided over by Clyde Wonderly, Jr., president of the association, to erect signs at various approaches to Kingston, showing the location of the business sections.

Dads of Vets Are To Organize Here

A local chapter is being planned of an organization dedicated to the welfare of war veterans, according to an announcement by Past Commander Raymond K. Myer of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Myer told The Freeman today that a meeting is scheduled Friday at 8 p. m. in the VFW home, Delaware avenue, of fathers, or step-fathers interested in forming a local unit of Dads of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A cordial invitation is extended to all eligible men to attend Friday's meeting for the purpose of organizing the local chapter, Myer said and he cited the advantages of sociability and good fellowship for the dads who gather at the VFW home.

Myer added that the organization originated in Kansas City, national headquarters of the VFW, and that chapters are springing up all over the nation.

Those interested in advance information relative to the meeting may call Past Commander Myer at 4003 or 6491.

Benjamin DeGraff, Eugene Wilber, Bev Anderson and Everand Short, colorfully attired, displayed their markmanship skills using muzzle loaders, of the type popular in about 1840. The guns, about 80 to 100-years old, which are loaded by powder horn and ramrod, are from the collections of Eugene Wilber, E. A. Jurist, and Bev Anderson. Some of the equipment used for the exhibition was borrowed from Richard D. Short, gun collector.

Jurist, who assisted the marksmen with the display, said that the event, to this club's knowledge has never been done in any club, although there are muzzle loading clubs.

Considerable amusement was provided during the shoot when Bill Tuck, photographer, who was also shooting with camera and colored film, attempted to synchronize camera and blunderbuss explosions.

The club hopes to have a similar event in the near future with the competitors demonstrating their skill with flintlock guns of an earlier period.

Berkowitz Reports Paris Film Festival

Woodstock, June 17 — Sidney Berkowitz, who served as general chairman of the First Film Festival in America which was held at the Woodstock Playhouse last Labor Day weekend, has returned from an extended trip in Europe and reported that a similar festival will be held in Paris, France, June 25 and 26. The event is being sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, one of the three Woodstock sponsors, in association with UNESCO, Cinemateque Francaise, and the Friends of Art of France.

Twelve of the films to be included were shown at the Woodstock festival, along with 10 others which have been selected, all of which were done under the supervision and direction of Robert Morris, cultural officer of the U. S. Embassy in Paris. The entire program will be devoted to American and Pan-American subjects.

"The festival has been arranged," said Berkowitz, "because of the incessant demand on the part of the French people to see what is being done about art in the United States. Because of the great interest in art films in the U. S. it has been easy to show the French what a number of leading artists are doing."

Riding Club Gets Thanks for Support

Woodstock, June 17—The Woodstock Riding Club received a letter a few days ago from Brig. Gen. F. W. Boye, executive vice-president of the U. S. Equestrian Team, thanking the club for the wonderful support given in helping to send the team to Europe where the group is now exhibiting previous to participation in the Olympic Games.

The Woodstock Riding Club is again sponsoring a class—Class 15, young hunters—in the forthcoming horse show to be held at the club's Ohayo Mountain ring Sunday, June 29, the proceeds from which will be donated to the U. S. Equestrian Team.

Officials of the club report that entries for the horse show are coming in well, and that advance sales of general admissions and ringside parking spaces, are excellent.

To Install Murals

Woodstock, June 17—Three murals by Peggy Maguire will be installed in the Duchess County golf club house by June 21. The subjects depicted in the murals, which are a gift to the club by Thomas A. Corby, president, are an outdoor scene in northern Canada of a hunter returning home in his canoe, a Woodstock snow scene, and a seashore scene of the Gloucester, Mass., waterfront.

Merchants Plan July 4 Schedule, Do Other Business

At their Monday noon luncheon meeting, members of the Kingston Merchants Association (Uptown Branch) announced store hours for the July 4 period, discussed rural advertising and went on record as opposed to increases in parcel post.

During the session held at the Kirkland Hotel, the merchants, in line with their plan of picking up holiday business and at the same time make it convenient for customers to complete their weekly shopping, decided to follow the same schedule July 4 as they did for Memorial Day.

The stores will be open until 9 p. m. Thursday, July 3; closed all day Friday, July 4, and open until 5 p. m. Saturday, July 5.

Favoring repeal of recent increases in parcel post rates, the association directed its secretary to write Congressman J. Ernest Wharton to that effect.

The merchants also voted to distribute posters to all boarding houses and resorts within an approximate 50-mile radius of Kingston to promote business.

Proposal on the posters was made by Louis Kantrowitz who wrote: "With every natural advantage for happy vacationers, I cannot understand why we merchants don't take advantage of it by some type of progressive all year round advertising campaign. Don't forget this type of promotion must include every hotel and boarding house owner as well as assorted businesses."

It was also voted at the session, presided over by Clyde Wonderly, Jr., president of the association, to erect signs at various approaches to Kingston, showing the location of the business sections.

Dads of Vets Are To Organize Here

A local chapter is being planned of an organization dedicated to the welfare of war veterans, according to an announcement by Past Commander Raymond K. Myer of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Myer told The Freeman today that a meeting is scheduled Friday at 8 p. m. in the VFW home, Delaware avenue, of fathers, or step-fathers interested in forming a local unit of Dads of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A cordial invitation is extended to all eligible men to attend Friday's meeting for the purpose of organizing the local chapter, Myer said and he cited the advantages of sociability and good fellowship for the dads who gather at the VFW home.

Myer added that the organization originated in Kansas City, national headquarters of the VFW, and that chapters are springing up all over the nation.

Those interested in advance information relative to the meeting may call Past Commander Myer at 4003 or 6491.

Robert Craft Will Assist at Metropolitan Premiere of Stravinsky Opera Next Season

The premiere performance in America of Igor Stravinsky's opera, The Rake's Progress, will be presented next season by the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York. Robert Craft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Craft, 41 Johnston avenue, will assist the noted composer on this occasion.

Commenting on American influences of Stravinsky in the New York Times last Sunday, music critic Olin Downs, paid unusual tribute to Mr. Craft, when he wrote, "due to another American influence, that of young Robert Craft, one of the most ardent of the Stravinsky admirers, a musician of uncommon culture and breadth of appreciation who has been close to Stravinsky in recent years in California, and who did much to convince him that there was matter which...."

Mr. Craft who assisted Stravinsky with the orchestration of the opera, has just returned to California, having visited his parents in this city, enroute from Paris, where he was chosen as one of the conductors of the much publicized musical exposition entitled Masterpieces of the Twentieth Century.

Howard Honig Has Difficult Role in For Love or Money

The difficult role of a great actor will be played by Howard Honig in For Love or Money, the forthcoming sophisticated comedy production to be presented by the Coach House Players at the George Washington School auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday, June 25 and 26. Seats for both nights must be reserved.

Tickets are on sale at Rossi's Music Store, Flanagan's and London's Youth Centre and Junior Bazaar. Members of the ticket committee will also be at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Monday through Thursday, June 23 to 26, from 2 to 4 p. m. to make reservations. Further information may be had by telephoning Gertrude Elwyn, 2059.

The merrily complicated story of the comedy concerns the actor who takes in a storm-marooned girl on the evening after the funeral of a wife whom he had tended hand and foot during 12 years of complete invalidism, of the actor's battle to win the girl, fair and square, in the face of the frantic young love of his godson for the pretty miss, and the catty efforts of his leading lady to elbow her out of first place in his affections.

Playing a role which brought Broadway stardom and a Hollywood contract to June Lockhart in New York, Jeanne Van Zandt will be seen here in the part of the naive young Janet Blake. As the men in her life, Howard Honig will be seen as Preston Mitchell, the middle-aged matinee idol, while Lawrence Dutchyshyn has been cast as Bill Tremaine, Mitchell's much younger rival for Janet's attentions.

Patricia Warner will portray the actor's jealous co-star, Nita Havenmeyer, Teresa Lloyd and Scott Foster will be seen as Bill Tremaine's shocked parents, and Ruth Herdman and Richard Becker will be seen as the actor's servants.

The play will be directed by Houston Richards. Richard Becker has designed the set.

One of the laugh hits of New York's 1947-48 theatrical season, For Love or Money is from the pen of F. Hugh Herbert, author of the current Broadway hit, The Moon Is Blue.

Frederick Smith, USN, Former Resident Is Honor Graduate at Hillyer College

Frederick Stanton Smith, Chief Pharmacist Mate, USN, of New London, Conn., was graduated with highest honors from Hillyer College, Hartford, Conn., June 8 and was one of 178 students granted the bachelor of arts degree at the 73rd commencement exercises held at Bushnell Memorial hall.

Chief Smith's degree was granted in absentia, since he is temporarily on duty at Philadelphia.

Attended Night Classes

Chief Smith, who entered the evening division of Hillyer upon assignment to the U. S. Submarine Base, New London, after a long tour of duty in Pacific waters during World War 2, is a former resident of Kingston and was graduated from Kingston High School.

He is the son of Fred P. Smith and the late Mrs. Smith. Chief Smith's wife, Elizabeth S., and two sons live at One Bill avenue, Groton, Conn. During her residence in Kingston Mrs. Smith was secretary to the president of Electrol Incorporated, 85 Grand street, this city.

Chief Smith served several years as bacteriologist at Kingston Laboratory under Dr. J. S. Taylor, director, now at Danville, N. C.

Cited by Navy

His war record includes service on two famous U. S. Navy submersibles, Archerfish and Sea Poacher. While serving as chief pharmacist mate aboard the latter, Smith earned a special citation for meritorius work upon wounded men. His citation was awarded as the result of an engagement between the Sea Poacher and a Japanese destroyer in the Straits of Formosa.

The Sea Poacher was surfaced in the narrow passageway when attacked by the Japanese naval vessel lurking off a nearby island. Sea depth was insufficient for a crash dive and the submarine gun crews engaged in a hot exchange with the destroyer. During the engagement Chief Smith was topside examining a wounded American sailor when Japanese shrapnel tore his jacket from him. Respite was granted when American fighter planes, flying escort for Tokyo-bound B-29s, peeled off and riddled the Japanese vessel with rocket fire.

Delicate Surgery Performed

The Sea Poacher crew rescued several Japanese, including one with a severe skull injury. One of the American submariners sustained a painful head wound which severed his ear.

Chief Smith worked tirelessly for long hours after the battle without sleep. Part of his work included delicate skull surgery upon the Japanese seaman and the suturing of the ear of the American seaman. Smith brought all men safely through and the operation upon the American's ear was so successful only a slight hairline showed later to indicate his wound.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The New York Herald Tribune has been having sanctimonious hysterics over the frustration of General Eisenhower's mock-Republicans by the old guard in the Texas convention. The old guard recognized the Taft delegates.

Henry Zweifel, the Republican national committeman, controls the machinery of the Texas convention under an old, recognized system, which governs the politics of many states and counties and all labor unions. Our machinery for presidential elections is irregular; in part obsolete, and, on the whole, seriously defective. Crude as it is, however, it is our own.

That the Herald Tribune should carry on about the shame and pity of it all as Mr. Zweifel put over his coup was expectable. This paper's editorial policy was dictated for critical and probably fateful years by Joe Barnes, the poor but proud protege of Frederick Vanderbilt Field, a notorious Red. Barnes himself is a friend of the Communists in Moscow as well as in New York and he was the political guide and social manager of Wendell Willkie on his pilgrimage to the Kremlin.

The H-T's book and drama departments have been tainted from the beginning of the New Deal and in all this time it has never shown the slightest initiative in the minimum duties of a journal with pretensions to moral leadership. It went out of its way to honor Eleanor Roosevelt instead of assigning its excellent city-side reporters to get the goods in the attempt to scare out of court John J. Glavin, a reputable Albany lawyer, who was preparing to file a divorce suit on behalf of Mrs. Earl Miller, the wife of Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite state cop.

Glavin has recounted these incidents in writing on his responsibility as a member of the bar and has charged that voice-recordings were taken of certain conversations without warning to him. The Herald Tribune has been a fellow-traveler of the New Deal under false Republican colors and now, having discredited itself, it is trying to compel the nomination of General Eisenhower by the Republicans in an obvious attempt to repair its own fortunes. That is motive enough to account for its unwonted chastity in the Texas case.

Such support is not necessarily to be held against the general. Many honest Republicans would vote for him, waiving their misgivings over his submission to Roosevelt's tragic partition of Germany, in the hope that Ike had now learned his lesson. The Herald Tribune and the New York Times, a strict, party-line Democratic paper with no standing whatever in Republican councils, typify the mock-Republican bumptiousness which Mr. Zweifel and the regular Republicans frustrated in Texas. These newspapers are not Republican but opportunist and those Texans who suddenly stormed the Republican convention in a body which Zweifel described as a mob were, in fact, Democrats suddenly determined to impose their influence on the Republican national convention in Chicago. They were thinking of patronage next winter and thereafter.

The Dallas News, a typical, other-handed Texas Democratic paper, expressed the impudence of this element six months ago. The News said these Democrats would go Republican if they could name the candidate. Its own candidate was Ike. In common with other Texas papers, the News put the proposition that the people of Texas were stupid to vote for Taft even though he might be the best Republican but would vote overwhelmingly for Ike solely because he had glamor. No reliable way has yet been found to save the country from the folly of voters who like Ike for his grin alone. The best the Dallas News and its Texas contemporaries could say was that the people of Texas were not quite bright.

Mr. Zweifel realized that this was an attempt of a group of Democrats who knew the jig was up, to grab control of the permanent, substantial Republican organization. So he relied on a few simple, if cynical, rules which are standard in all parties and, as I say, in the unions.

In the Texas Republican organization, the state executive committee has the power under the rules to draw up a temporary roll of the state convention, declare its own adherents to be duly elected and seat them. These delegates then adopted a resolution validating their own election.

This is one familiar way of achieving a familiar political purpose. Another way, used by the Eisenhower faction in Connecticut, is to gather up the delegates at the local caucuses. I observe that the Herald Tribune sent an agent all the way to Texas to denounce with fearless indignation a process which, in Connecticut, only an hour away by New Haven local, was worked unobserved for Eisenhower's benefit.

The regular Republicans have been soliciting votes in the south, but it would be folly to let the CIO take over, when the character of the intruders is as plain as it was here, without resort to the simplest political maneuver.

In union conventions, the method is even more direct. The boss goons name the committee on credentials, whose word is final. The committee seats only certified friends of the gang. The committee on resolutions is named by the same power. This committee decides which issues shall be admitted to the floor and which shall be ignored. And, by this method, the elections of officers are run by microphone from the chairman's table and undesirable characters are thwarted in disruptive designs.

I would be the last to deny that the subject of jobs for the faithful old guard Republicans was forward in Mr. Zweifel's thoughts. Otherwise, he would have been unworthy of his trust.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The New York Herald Tribune has been having sanctimonious hysterics over the frustration of General Eisenhower's mock-Republicans by the old guard in the Texas convention. The old guard recognized the Taft delegates.

Henry Zweifel, the Republican national committeman, controls the machinery of the Texas convention under an old, recognized system, which governs the politics of many states and counties and all labor unions. Our machinery for presidential elections is irregular; in part obsolete, and, on the whole, seriously defective. Crude as it is, however, it is our own.

That the Herald Tribune should carry on about the shame and pity of it all as Mr. Zweifel put over his coup was expectable. This paper's editorial policy was dictated for critical and probably fateful years by Joe Barnes, the poor but proud protege of Frederick Vanderbilt Field, a notorious Red. Barnes himself is a friend of the Communists in Moscow as well as in New York and he was the political guide and social manager of Wendell Willkie on his pilgrimage to the Kremlin.

The H-T's book and drama departments have been tainted from the beginning of the New Deal and in all this time it has never shown the slightest initiative in the minimum duties of a journal with pretensions to moral leadership. It went out of its way to honor Eleanor Roosevelt instead of assigning its excellent city-side reporters to get the goods in the attempt to scare out of court John J. Glavin, a reputable Albany lawyer, who was preparing to file a divorce suit on behalf of Mrs. Earl Miller, the wife of Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite state cop.

Glavin has recounted these incidents in writing on his responsibility as a member of the bar and has charged that voice-recordings were taken of certain conversations without warning to him. The Herald Tribune has been a fellow-traveler of the New Deal under false Republican colors and now, having discredited itself, it is trying to compel the nomination of General Eisenhower by the Republicans in an obvious attempt to repair its own fortunes. That is motive enough to account for its unwonted chastity in the Texas case.

Such support is not necessarily to be held against the general. Many honest Republicans would vote for him, waiving their misgivings over his submission to Roosevelt's tragic partition of Germany, in the hope that Ike had now learned his lesson. The Herald Tribune and the New York Times, a strict, party-line Democratic paper with no standing whatever in Republican councils, typify the mock-Republican bumptiousness which Mr. Zweifel and the regular Republicans frustrated in Texas. These newspapers are not Republican but opportunist and those Texans who suddenly stormed the Republican convention in a body which Zweifel described as a mob were, in fact, Democrats suddenly determined to impose their influence on the Republican national convention in Chicago. They were thinking of patronage next winter and thereafter.

The Dallas News, a typical, other-handed Texas Democratic paper, expressed the impudence of this element six months ago. The News said these Democrats would go Republican if they could name the candidate. Its own candidate was Ike. In common with other Texas papers, the News put the proposition that the people of Texas were stupid to vote for Taft even though he might be the best Republican but would vote overwhelmingly for Ike solely because he had glamor. No reliable way has yet been found to save the country from the folly of voters who like Ike for his grin alone. The best the Dallas News and its Texas contemporaries could say was that the people of Texas were not quite bright.

Mr. Zweifel realized that this was an attempt of a group of Democrats who knew the jig was up, to grab control of the permanent, substantial Republican organization. So he relied on a few simple, if cynical, rules which are standard in all parties and, as I say, in the unions.

In the Texas Republican organization, the state executive committee has the power under the rules to draw up a temporary roll of the state convention, declare its own adherents to be duly elected and seat them. These delegates then adopted a resolution validating their own election.

This is one familiar way of achieving a familiar political purpose. Another way, used by the Eisenhower faction in Connecticut, is to gather up the delegates at the local caucuses. I observe that the Herald Tribune sent an agent all the way to Texas to denounce with fearless indignation a process which, in Connecticut, only an hour away by New Haven local, was worked unobserved for Eisenhower's benefit.

The regular Republicans have been soliciting votes in the south, but it would be folly to let the CIO take over, when the character of the intruders is as plain as it was here, without resort to the simplest political maneuver.

In union conventions, the method is even more direct. The boss goons name the committee on credentials, whose word is final. The committee seats only certified friends of the gang. The committee on resolutions is named by the same power. This committee decides which issues shall be admitted to the floor and which shall be ignored. And, by this method, the elections of officers are run by microphone from the chairman's table and undesirable characters are thwarted in disruptive designs.

I would be the last to deny that the subject of jobs for the faithful old guard Republicans was forward in Mr. Zweifel's thoughts. Otherwise, he would have been unworthy of his trust.

Those Korean truce negotiations remind Joe Parks of the old-fashioned Quaker meetings he had to attend as a boy. Everybody just sat silent for hours, waiting for the Spirit to move them. Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill Pro, to Compete in National PGA Tourney

Absent from golf's big-time circuit for many years, Alex Gerlak, the Twaalfskill club pro, makes his bid for national fame in the National PGA tournament which gets under way Wednesday at Louisville.

It has been more than a decade since the one-time terror of the Northeastern PGA fairways made a bid for a big crown.

Gerlak and Milon Marusic, the erstwhile Bald Eagle of Wolfert's Roost, will represent the Northeastern PGA in the national event. Marusic is now playing out of Herkimer.

Although he had previously announced he would not make the trip to Louisville, Gerlak reconsidered and departed for Louisville in the company of Fabian Russell of Saugerties late Saturday.

Haver to Louisville

Meanwhile, N. LeVan Haver, Twaalfskill president, was scheduled to fly to Louisville today to be on hand for the PGA opening on Wednesday. Gerlak spent Monday and today in practice firing at Big Spring layout, normally a 6,620-yard course that will be stretched to 6,800 yards for the PGA. Par is 36-36-72.

At the peak of his career, Gerlak competed in several U. S. Opens and PGA's and numbered long-hitting Jimmy Thomson among his distinguished victims. Always a superb craftsman with his woods and irons, the Twaalfskill veteran never acquired a major league putting touch.

Toughest Tournament

Although the U. S. Open title is regarded as the prize plum in all golf, the PGA is the toughest test, according to seasoned shotmakers, because it calls for more than 200 holes of match play in seven days for the finalists, or about 50 miles of hiking over hilly terrain.

It's the only major event in which the top professionals rip into each other. They make their living by matching their skill against par the rest of the year.

Hogan Out

Ben Hogan has declared himself unfit physically for the grind, but the other big names will make a spirited dash from Dallas and the National Open to Big Spring.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, defending PGA champion; Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff and other members of the tourist circuit will join stay-at-home professionals from all over the country to settle the issue.

Boros Gets Invitation

The golf pros were wondering whether Julius Boros was a "fluke" winner of the National Open title or a golfer who'll turn out to be a real champion. So they're giving him an immediate opportunity to prove his tournament mettle, the Associated Press reported today.

Boros, a big, rather silent young man from Connecticut who is pro at the Mid Pines in North Carolina, won't be eligible for PGA membership for three more years. But the PGA executive committee, in a surprising reversal of traditional policies, voted to give him a special invitation to compete in the PGA championship.

This action was a temporary one, calling for a change in the by-laws which limit entries to PGA members or certain invited foreign stars. It is subject to ratification at the PGA convention in December.

Even before Boros was asked in, he was the main subject of conversation on the practice tees and in the grill room at the Big Springs course. He has been making the tournament tour for two years now without winning a major event up to the Open last week and he's liked by the other players.

Red Sox Score 6-3 Upset Victory Over Yankees in Little League

Charlie Boice Stops Leaders With 7 Hits

Monday's Little League contest wasn't played at Fenway Park in Boston but the way the underdog Red Sox mauled the unbeaten Yankees, it looked like a Beantown special.

Young Charlie Boice scattered seven hits in effective fashion, while his Red Sox teammates bunched nine for two big innings and a 6 to 3 upset of the unbeaten league leaders.

As a result of the unexpected Yankee setback, the league race has tightened considerably and every club has at least one loss.

The Yankees are still front running with a 3 and 1 record, with the Dodgers a half game behind and the Red Sox even up at 2 and 2, one length off the pace. The second place Dodgers and the last place Giants are scheduled today.

Cullum's Doubles

Little Joe Clark was the victim of the Red Sox batters, particularly the meat of the batting order. Jim Cullum, the Red Sox catcher, slugged a pair of doubles in the No. 3 spot and Tom Van Etten behaved like a real cleanup swinger with a "3 for 3" performance, a double and two singles. Tom Hallinan had two hits in three trips.

Dan Steltz, the strong-armed Yankee pitching ace who played the outfield last night, poled a double and two singles for another "3 for 3" outing. Charlie Tiano, the Yankee left fielder, emerged from a long slump with a pair of singles.

The Red Sox picked up two runs in their first turn at bat and iced the contest with a four-run splurge in the third. The Yankees picked up their final two runs in the fifth frame.

Boice, the winning pitcher, walked two batters and fanned four. Clark had one strikeout victim and didn't issue a pass.

Twi Managers Air Sunday Baseball

City Baseball League officials will discuss the problem of Sunday baseball for the twilight circuit, following today's game between Jones Dairy and Wiltwyck Motors.

League managers and officials are reported split on the question of Sunday ball. Some point out that the attendance has not come up to expectations. Others declare that although the attendance has been only fair the Sunday gate receipts exceed those for the usual twilight engagements.

The City League adopted the Sunday ball idea for its regular schedule for the first time this season.

The Motormen have a chance to solidify their hold on first place today and are expected to send Gus McCormick to the hill against Jones Dairy's Tommy Fisher. The Dairymen are languishing in the unusual position of cellar occupants with two losses in three starts, but the season is still young and the Dairymen are always a pennant threat.

Musial Regains Batting Lead; DiMag Tops AL

New York, June 17 (AP)—Stan Musial, aiming for his sixth batting championship and his third straight crown, was back today in his familiar spot as the National League's leading hitter with a mark of .330.

Although his average remained the same over the past week, the St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder jumped from fourth place into the top slot, displacing slumping Hank Sauer of Chicago.

Sauer, who leads the league in home runs with 18 and runs batted in with 59, lost 29 points and skidded to sixth place.

In the American League batting race Dom DiMaggio of Boston suffered an 11-point decline, but managed to retain the lead over Cleveland's Al Rosen. The Little Professor of the Red Sox is hitting .332, with Rosen right on his heels at .330.

The Indians' third baseman, however, continues to set the pace in runs batted in with 38 and is tied for the lead in homers with Detroit's Walt Dropo and Vic Wertz. Each has socked 11 roundtrippers.

Whitey Lockman of New York and Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson follow Musial in the National League batting derby. They are tied for second at .327.

Chicago rookie Toby Atwell is fourth at .326, followed by the injured Frankie Baumholtz of the Cubs at .321.

Boston's George Kell, who has been challenging the American League pace-setters for the past few weeks, still is in contention with a third place mark of .325.

Eddie Robinson of Chicago holds down fourth at .316, followed by Detroit's Johnny Groth at .310 in fifth.

A pair of southpaws continue to boast the top pitching marks in the major leagues. Preacher Roe, possessing a 5-0 won-lost slate heads the National circuit, while Bobby Shantz' 11-1 record leads the American loop.

New Paltz Gun Club Plans Trapshoot

The New Paltz Rod and Gun will make its third attempt of the season to stage a trapshoot on Sunday, June 22, at 1:30 p. m. at the club grounds.

Two other attempts this spring were rained out.

Shooters will be firing over new trap installations which were completed this spring. The club is offering a prize to the shooter who breaks the first 50 straight targets over the new traps. All county shooters are invited.

Lively Lady Wins

Westbury, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Lively Lady captured the $11,800 Old Westbury Trot for two-year-olds in a 12-horse field last night at Roosevelt Raceway. The filly, owned by the Gay Acres Stable of Wooster, Ohio, defeated Miss Parisway by a length and one-half as Famous Hanover placed third. A 1-2 favorite, Lively Lady returned $3.00, $2.50 and $2.30 across the board. Time for the mile was 2:12.

STARS FOR THE GIANTS

Who said everything happens in Brooklyn?

How about the Polo Grounds? Ever since Bobby Thomson cracked that pennant winning home run in the final 1951 playoff game, the weirdest things have been occurring in Brooklyn's Ebbets Field can match them.

Look at what happened in the Polo Grounds last Sunday, for instance. The Giants were rolling along enjoying an 11-0 lead over the St. Louis Cardinals when suddenly the roof caved in on them. Before they realized what had happened the Cards had won 14-12.

Yesterday, just 24 hours later, the Cards were leading 7-4 when the Giants came to bat. Two walks, a single, an out and boom. Thomson practically duplicated his '51 feat hitting a grand slam homer to beat the Redbirds, 8-7.

That's not all. Look at this believe-it-or-not situation. Willard Schmidt, who tossed up that gopher ball to Bobby, made only one pitch—and he was charged with the defeat. The rookie righthander had been summoned to relieve Will Werle.

In contrast, the victory went to George Spencer, fourth Giant pitcher. He, too, made only one pitch. That was a double play delivery to Del Rice to end the top of the ninth. So we have the unprecedented situation in which two hurlers make one pitch each, one of which is credited with the victory while the other is charged with the defeat.

Breaks Batting Slump

Ironically, Thomson's game-winning homer yesterday came after the Giant third baseman had gone to bat 17 straight times without a hit. Eddie Luhas, second St. Louis pitcher, set the stage when he walked Hank Thompson to start the last half of the ninth. Pinch hitter George Wilson lined to Red Schoendienst and Thompson moved to second when Schoendienst threw wild to first in a double play attempt.

Davey Williams singled to send Thompson to third. Lefty Werle relieved Yuhas and walked Whitey Lockman to load the bases. Schmidt, a fast-balling righthander, took over. Thomson's belt went clear over the left field roof just inside the foul line. The homer cut the Dodgers' first place lead to three games, erased what looked like certain defeat for Sal Maglie and overshadowed homers by Wes Westrum, Al Dark and Williams for the Giants.

In the only other game scheduled in the majors, the Phillies edged out the last place Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, to move into sixth place past the Boston Braves. A triple by Richie Ashburn and a long fly by Granny Hamner broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh. The Bucs built up a 4-1 lead on homers by Ralph Kiner (No. 11) and George Strickland, but rookie Ronnie Kline couldn't hold it. He was replaced by Paul Lapalme in the sixth when three walks, a single by Connie Ryan and pinch hitter Bill Nicholson's long fly tied the score at 4-4.

Jim Konstanty, third Philly pitcher, gave up no runs in three innings to receive credit for his third triumph against one defeat.

All other teams had a day off.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Bobby Thompson, Giants—Hit a grandslam with one out in the last half of the ninth to give the Giants an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pitching—Jim Konstanty, Phillies—Pitched three scoreless innings of relief to gain credit for the Philadelphia Phillies' 5-4 comeback victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Arlington Races

Doug Benjamin came from behind to capture the stock car feature Saturday at Arlington Speedway by a margin of inches over Hal McCarty, the early leader. Jim Knowland won the Sunday midget auto feature in a field against stock cars.

Record Handle At Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Harness race fans set a new opening-night betting record at Saratoga Raceway tonight as 6,967 poured $206,647 across the pari-mutuel windows.

The handle topped the old mark of $165,396, set last year.

Eighty horses went to the post, setting another opening-night record, as the Spa track opened a 60-night summer meeting, its 11th.

The record entry for the eight-race inaugural resulted from big fields in five stake divisions.

Three-year-olds Bonny Brook Dean, Sturdy Jimmy and Nibbles Boy swept the three sections of the $3,375 Cobleskill Pace.

A pair of four-year-olds, Tyrone Hanover and Coesa, captured the two divisions of the $2,400 Schuylerville Trot.

Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill Pro, to Compete in National PGA Tourney

Absent from golf's big-time circuit for many years, Alex Gerlak, the Twaalfskill club pro, makes his bid for national fame in the National PGA tournament which gets under way Wednesday at Louisville.

It has been more than a decade since the one-time terror of the Northeastern PGA fairways made a bid for a big crown.

Gerlak and Milon Marusic, the erstwhile Bald Eagle of Wolfert's Roost, will represent the Northeastern PGA in the national event. Marusic is now playing out of Herkimer.

Although he had previously announced he would not make the trip to Louisville, Gerlak reconsidered and departed for Louisville in the company of Fabian Russell of Saugerties late Saturday.

Haver to Louisville

Meanwhile, N. LeVan Haver, Twaalfskill president, was scheduled to fly to Louisville today to be on hand for the PGA opening on Wednesday. Gerlak spent Monday and today in practice firing at Big Spring layout, normally a 6,620-yard course that will be stretched to 6,800 yards for the PGA. Par is 36-36-72.

At the peak of his career, Gerlak competed in several U. S. Opens and PGA's and numbered long-hitting Jimmy Thomson among his distinguished victims. Always a superb craftsman with his woods and irons, the Twaalfskill veteran never acquired a major league putting touch.

Toughest Tournament

Although the U. S. Open title is regarded as the prize plum in all golf, the PGA is the toughest test, according to seasoned shotmakers, because it calls for more than 200 holes of match play in seven days for the finalists, or about 50 miles of hiking over hilly terrain.

It's the only major event in which the top professionals rip into each other. They make their living by matching their skill against par the rest of the year.

Hogan Out

Ben Hogan has declared himself unfit physically for the grind, but the other big names will make a spirited dash from Dallas and the National Open to Big Spring.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, defending PGA champion; Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff and other members of the tourist circuit will join stay-at-home professionals from all over the country to settle the issue.

Boros Gets Invitation

The golf pros were wondering whether Julius Boros was a "fluke" winner of the National Open title or a golfer who'll turn out to be a real champion. So they're giving him an immediate opportunity to prove his tournament mettle, the Associated Press reported today.

Boros, a big, rather silent young man from Connecticut who is pro at the Mid Pines in North Carolina, won't be eligible for PGA membership for three more years. But the PGA executive committee, in a surprising reversal of traditional policies, voted to give him a special invitation to compete in the PGA championship.

This action was a temporary one, calling for a change in the by-laws which limit entries to PGA members or certain invited foreign stars. It is subject to ratification at the PGA convention in December.

Even before Boros was asked in, he was the main subject of conversation on the practice tees and in the grill room at the Big Springs course. He has been making the tournament tour for two years now without winning a major event up to the Open last week and he's liked by the other players.

Red Sox Score 6-3 Upset Victory Over Yankees in Little League

Charlie Boice Stops Leaders With 7 Hits

Monday's Little League contest wasn't played at Fenway Park in Boston but the way the underdog Red Sox mauled the unbeaten Yankees, it looked like a Beantown special.

Young Charlie Boice scattered seven hits in effective fashion, while his Red Sox teammates bunched nine for two big innings and a 6 to 3 upset of the unbeaten league leaders.

As a result of the unexpected Yankee setback, the league race has tightened considerably and every club has at least one loss.

The Yankees are still front running with a 3 and 1 record, with the Dodgers a half game behind and the Red Sox even up at 2 and 2, one length off the pace. The second place Dodgers and the last place Giants are scheduled today.

Cullum's Doubles

Little Joe Clark was the victim of the Red Sox batters, particularly the meat of the batting order. Jim Cullum, the Red Sox catcher, slugged a pair of doubles in the No. 3 spot and Tom Van Etten behaved like a real cleanup swinger with a "3 for 3" performance, a double and two singles. Tom Hallinan had two hits in three trips.

Dan Steltz, the strong-armed Yankee pitching ace who played the outfield last night, poled a double and two singles for another "3 for 3" outing. Charlie Tiano, the Yankee left fielder, emerged from a long slump with a pair of singles.

The Red Sox picked up two runs in their first turn at bat and iced the contest with a four-run splurge in the third. The Yankees picked up their final two runs in the fifth frame.

Boice, the winning pitcher, walked two batters and fanned four. Clark had one strikeout victim and didn't issue a pass.

Twi Managers Air Sunday Baseball

City Baseball League officials will discuss the problem of Sunday baseball for the twilight circuit, following today's game between Jones Dairy and Wiltwyck Motors.

League managers and officials are reported split on the question of Sunday ball. Some point out that the attendance has not come up to expectations. Others declare that although the attendance has been only fair the Sunday gate receipts exceed those for the usual twilight engagements.

The City League adopted the Sunday ball idea for its regular schedule for the first time this season.

The Motormen have a chance to solidify their hold on first place today and are expected to send Gus McCormick to the hill against Jones Dairy's Tommy Fisher. The Dairymen are languishing in the unusual position of cellar occupants with two losses in three starts, but the season is still young and the Dairymen are always a pennant threat.

Musial Regains Batting Lead; DiMag Tops AL

New York, June 17 (AP)—Stan Musial, aiming for his sixth batting championship and his third straight crown, was back today in his familiar spot as the National League's leading hitter with a mark of .330.

Although his average remained the same over the past week, the St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder jumped from fourth place into the top slot, displacing slumping Hank Sauer of Chicago.

Sauer, who leads the league in home runs with 18 and runs batted in with 59, lost 29 points and skidded to sixth place.

In the American League batting race Dom DiMaggio of Boston suffered an 11-point decline, but managed to retain the lead over Cleveland's Al Rosen. The Little Professor of the Red Sox is hitting .332, with Rosen right on his heels at .330.

The Indians' third baseman, however, continues to set the pace in runs batted in with 38 and is tied for the lead in homers with Detroit's Walt Dropo and Vic Wertz. Each has socked 11 round-trippers.

Whitey Lockman of New York and Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson follow Musial in the National League batting derby. They are tied for second at .327.

Chicago rookie Toby Atwell is fourth at .326, followed by the injured Frankie Baumholtz of the Cubs at .321.

Boston's George Kell, who has been challenging the American League pace-setters for the past few weeks, still is in contention with a third place mark of .325.

Eddie Robinson of Chicago holds down fourth at .316, followed by Detroit's Johnny Groth at .310 in fifth.

A pair of southpaws continue to boast the top pitching marks in the major leagues. Preacher Roe, possessing a 5-0 won-lost slate heads the National circuit, while Bobby Shantz' 11-1 record leads the American loop.

New Paltz Gun Club Plans Trapshoot

The New Paltz Rod and Gun will make its third attempt of the season to stage a trapshoot on Sunday, June 22, at 1:30 p. m. at the club grounds.

Two other attempts this spring were rained out.

Shooters will be firing over new trap installations which were completed this spring. The club is offering a prize to the shooter who breaks the first 50 straight targets over the new traps. All county shooters are invited.

Lively Lady Wins

Westbury, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Lively Lady captured the $11,800 Old Westbury Trot for two-year-olds in a 12-horse field last night at Roosevelt Raceway. The filly, owned by the Gay Acres Stable of Wooster, Ohio, defeated Miss Parisway by a length and one-half as Famous Hanover placed third. A 1-2 favorite, Lively Lady returned $3.00, $2.50 and $2.30 across the board. Time for the mile was 2:12.

Q. Has a fair ball ever been hit out of Yankee Stadium?

A. No.

Q. Who was the fourth infielder in the famed Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance double play combination?

A. Third Baseman Harry Steinfeldt.

Q. Who was the last left-handed catcher in the majors?

Broskie Pounds 755 Triple in Classic

Veteran Ace Cracks 266, 244 and 245

Harold Broskie's stratospheric Summer Classic League average continued to soar higher into the outer space last night when the veteran trundler pounded a sensational 755 series at the Bowlodrome.

It was the second "700" of the infant season for Broskie and set the pace for a night of feverish activity at the Cornell street planks.

The man without a first name started off with 266 and continued to unfurl a steady flow of strikes for counts of 244 and 245.

Two other league marks were set during the night and seven bowlers climbed to "600" or better. Bill Murray, the tall, silent pounder, rapped 267 in his third game for a new individual single record and the Robinson's knocked off 1007, 1059 and 1057 for a 3123 aggregate.

Richard Howard, with a 264 middle slam, stacked 659 for runnerup honors and Charlie Grunenwald hit the hat trick with 207-143-204-654. Johnny Ferraro pounded 249-632; Eddie Heins had 202-219-202-623; Gene Vogel 253-611; Tom Carlino 217-228-603; Bill Lawrence 219-593; and Bill Murray 267-593.

Truelove Cops 2nd Rhinebeck Feature

Russ Truelove was the winner of the feature event at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday night, being the first stock car pilot to annex a second feature win this season on the 1/5th mile macadam oval.

The Waterbury wow, starting in tenth position, grabbed the lead from Bill Colville midway in the 25-lapper and kept his sleek No. 44 in front until starter Rudy Arthofer waved the checkered flag.

Larry Shurter, one of NASCAR's outstanding drivers, continued his heavy throttling, taking second in his heat, second in the semi-final and fourth in the feature.

Another local favorite, Poughkeepsie's Bob Disbrow, won the first heat, the semi-final, and was runner-up in the main go.

Crows Good Medicine for Shooting

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

One of the easiest and most satisfying types of off-season shooting is blasting crows with a shotgun. And it's most rewarding, too, because crows raise havoc among the game birds during their nesting period. Done in the right way at the right time, this will give you hot-barrel shotgunnery to make you sharp as a tack when the bird season rolls around.

And crows aren't so easy to hit either. Their slow-flapping flight will cross you up on lead, and they can cut some acrobatic didoes. The big problem is to get 'em into range of a smoothbore and a good dose of No. 7½ chilled shot.

If you're one of those characters who can't sit still very long, find a ridge topped by high hardwoods, with crows in evidence in nearby fields. Sneak up there and lean against a tree. Five or 10 minutes later open up with your call, half a dozen long caws, not the sharp squawks of alarm.

Then wheedle 'em along with distress wails. Don't wait when they swoop over the trees—cut that shotgun loose. This is tough shooting through the treetops—probably the sportiest operation on crows—and if you can take them this way you'll do OK on mallards over the pin oaks.

If you're willing to sit things out a while, try an owl decoy. Stick it up conspicuously on a post or tree, preferably along an observed crow route, and build yourself a blind no more than 30 yards from the owl. Start the call working, and if you get an answer, pull him in with that distress wail.

Blast the first crow that swoops near the owl and keep on blasting and calling as they dive in. I've seen a good caller turn this stunt into a swirling dogfight that ended only when one enraged crow smacked the owl dead center and knocked it off the pole. Even without the decoy, a clever caller hidden out along the flyway to the nightly roost can burn up the shells by the box.

Despite their bravery against gunfire, crows are several times smarter than ducks about men. The flash of a human face in the greenery spells nothing to a crow but danger. In my section they're so smart they can read the headstamp on your cartridge as you put it on the gun—and if it's a really hot load they flay away at 375 yards, instead of 175.

Richards Concedes Yankees 4th Pennant

Chicago, June 17 (AP) — The New York Yankees, leading the American League by 1½ games, is the team to beat for the pennant, assesses Paul Richards, manager of the fourth spot Chicago White Sox.

"The Yankees have the best defensive team in the league," he said. "A ball has to go through the infield like a shot or guys like McDougald, Martin, Rizzuto and Collins will get it. You can't get much past Mantle, Woodling and Bauer in the outfield, and they got the best catcher in Berra.

"Everybody in the lineup can hit. Then you get to Raschi, Lopat and Reynolds on the mound—how can you beat 'em."

The White Sox have lost all seven of their games with New York so far this season.

Etchison, Master Of 'Giant Swing' Here Wednesday

Ronnie Etchison, a clever young grappler from St. Joseph, Mo., and Bobby Lane, a newcomer from St. Louis, have been paired for the opener of the all-star wrestling show Wednesday night at municipal stadium.

Etchison features the "Giant Swing," the grip that made former world champion, Frank Sexton, famous, and has been wrestling main events in the midwest most of the indoor season. Lane is a rough hombre who has battled the best in the business.

The show is featured by a two-out-of-three main event between the sensational Verne Gagne and Angelo Verdi, newly-crowned champion of Italy. Gagne put on another terrific show on last Saturday night's TV circuit out of Chicago, while Verdi lost a thriller to Irish Pat O'Connor at Saratoga Springs last Wednesday.

The co-feature pits Hans Schmidt of Germany against Bobby Leiper of Buffalo. Schmidt is in the feature bout at the Troy Arena tonight.

Fresno—Tony Bosnich, 194¼, San Francisco, and Jack McFalls, 183, Los Angeles, drew (10).

New Marks Set

One hundred fourteen track records were broken during the 1948 North American horse racing season. Broken records included four American marks and two world records.

Early birds of which fossils have been found had long, reptile-like tails and teeth.

The sea horse is a kind of fish so small it can be held in the hand and gets its name from the queer shape of its head and its long snout.

Broskie Pounds 755 Triple in Classic

Veteran Ace Cracks 266, 244 and 245

Harold Broskie's stratospheric Summer Classic League average continued to soar higher into the outer space last night when the veteran trundler pounded a sensational 755 series at the Bowlodrome.

It was the second "700" of the infant season for Broskie and set the pace for a night of feverish activity at the Cornell street planks.

The man without a first name started off with 266 and continued to unfurl a steady flow of strikes for counts of 244 and 245.

Two other league marks were set during the night and seven bowlers climbed to "600" or better. Bill Murray, the tall, silent pounder, rapped 267 in his third game for a new individual single record and the Robinson's knocked off 1007, 1059 and 1057 for a 3123 aggregate.

Richard Howard, with a 264 middle slam, stacked 659 for runnerup honors and Charlie Grunenwald hit the hat trick with 207-143-204-654. Johnny Ferraro pounded 249-632; Eddie Heins had 202-219-202-623; Gene Vogel 253-611; Tom Carlino 217-228-603; Bill Lawrence 219-593; and Bill Murray 267-593.

Crows Good Medicine for Shooting

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

One of the easiest and most satisfying types of off-season shooting is blasting crows with a shotgun. And it's most rewarding, too, because crows raise havoc among the game birds during their nesting period. Done in the right way at the right time, this will give you hot-barrel shotgunnery to make you sharp as a tack when the bird season rolls around.

And crows aren't so easy to hit either. Their slow-flapping flight will cross you up on lead, and they can cut some acrobatic didoes. The big problem is to get 'em into range of a smoothbore and a good dose of No. 7½ chilled shot.

If you're one of those characters who can't sit still very long, find a ridge topped by high hardwoods, with crows in evidence in nearby fields. Sneak up there and lean against a tree. Five or 10 minutes later open up with your call, half a dozen long caws, not the sharp squawks of alarm.

Then wheedle 'em along with distress wails. Don't wait when they swoop over the trees—cut that shotgun loose. This is tough shooting through the treetops—probably the sportiest operation on crows—and if you can take them this way you'll do OK on mallards over the pin oaks.

If you're willing to sit things out a while, try an owl decoy. Stick it up conspicuously on a post or tree, preferably along an observed crow route, and build yourself a blind no more than 30 yards from the owl. Start the call working, and if you get an answer, pull him in with that distress wail.

Blast the first crow that swoops near the owl and keep on blasting and calling as they dive in. I've seen a good caller turn this stunt into a swirling dogfight that ended only when one enraged crow smacked the owl dead center and knocked it off the pole. Even without the decoy, a clever caller hidden out along the flyway to the nightly roost can burn up the shells by the box.

Despite their bravery against gunfire, crows are several times smarter than ducks about men. The flash of a human face in the greenery spells nothing to a crow but danger. In my section they're so smart they can read the headstamp on your cartridge as you put it on the gun—and if it's a really hot load they flay away at 375 yards, instead of 175.

Richards Concedes Yankees 4th Pennant

Chicago, June 17 (AP) — The New York Yankees, leading the American League by 1½ games, is the team to beat for the pennant, assesses Paul Richards, manager of the fourth spot Chicago White Sox.

"The Yankees have the best defensive team in the league," he said. "A ball has to go through the infield like a shot or guys like McDougald, Martin, Rizzuto and Collins will get it. You can't get much past Mantle, Woodling and Bauer in the outfield, and they got the best catcher in Berra.

"Everybody in the lineup can hit. Then you get to Raschi, Lopat and Reynolds on the mound—how can you beat 'em."

The White Sox have lost all seven of their games with New York so far this season.

Etchison, Master Of 'Giant Swing' Here Wednesday

Ronnie Etchison, a clever young grappler from St. Joseph, Mo., and Bobby Lane, a newcomer from St. Louis, have been paired for the opener of the all-star wrestling show Wednesday night at municipal stadium.

Etchison features the "Giant Swing," the grip that made former world champion, Frank Sexton, famous, and has been wrestling main events in the midwest most of the indoor season. Lane is a rough hombre who has battled the best in the business.

The show is featured by a two-out-of-three main event between the sensational Verne Gagne and Angelo Verdi, newly-crowned champion of Italy. Gagne put on another terrific show on last Saturday night's TV circuit out of Chicago, while Verdi lost a thriller to Irish Pat O'Connor at Saratoga Springs last Wednesday.

The co-feature pits Hans Schmidt of Germany against Bobby Leiper of Buffalo. Schmidt is in the feature bout at the Troy Arena tonight.

Fresno—Tony Bosnich, 194½, San Francisco, and Jack McFalls, 183, Los Angeles, drew (10).

Truelove Cops 2nd Rhinebeck Feature

Russ Truelove was the winner of the feature event at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday night, being the first stock car pilot to annex a second feature win this season on the 1/5th mile macadam oval.

The Waterbury wow, starting in tenth position, grabbed the lead from Bill Colville midway in the 25-lapper and kept his sleek No. 44 in front until starter Rudy Arthofer waved the checkered flag.

Larry Shurter, one of NASCAR's outstanding drivers, continued his heavy throttling, taking second in his heat, second in the semi-final and fourth in the feature.

Another local favorite, Poughkeepsie's Bob Disbrow, won the first heat, the semi-final, and was runner-up in the main go.

New Marks Set

One hundred fourteen track records were broken during the 1948 North American horse racing season. Broken records included four American marks and two world records.

Early birds of which fossils have been found had long, reptile-like tails and teeth.

The sea horse is a kind of fish so small it can be held in the hand and gets its name from the queer shape of its head and its long snout.

Phoenicia Fish And Game Awards For Conservation

For its outstanding work in conservation the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association has been awarded a citation from the Field and Stream of the Air, and as a part of that award has been presented with a five horsepower Johnson outboard motor. The citation was won for being a club which had shown the most interest in conservation during the month of March, 1951. In addition to the motor, the club also has been awarded an aluminum boat, and a deer rifle as a token of appreciation for the work being carried out by the club.

Carl Muller is president of the club; Mervel Jones, vice-president; Herman Folkerts, treasurer, and Earl Conro is secretary.

Since the close of the 1951 trout season the club has stocked 176,000 trout in its area. Of these trout, which were from the New York State Conservation Department but distributed through the club 86,000 were legal size trout with some of them weighing up to two pounds. In addition to the state trout which were handled through the club, the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association also has purchased with its own funds from dues, 10,000 fingerling Brown trout.

Not only is the club membership interested in fishing but also in other forms of game conservation.

A Columbus Day weekend turkey shoot is now being planned by the club to be held at the Simpson Memorial Ski Slope in Phoenicia on October 12.

500 Are Against Reopening Dump

A petition with more than 500 names to be presented to the Common Council at its recessed meeting tomorrow asks definite action and assurance that no more dumping will be permitted in the Summer-Sterling street area, it was learned today.

It was agreed at a meeting of residents of the area held at the home of Edmund V. Demski, 72 Pine Grove avenue, last night to present the petition.

It was also indicated, that the group, represented by Attorney William A. Kaercher, has instructed him to take "whatever action may be necessary" to prevent further dumping in the area, if no assurance is given by the city that the practice will be ended.

The petition will be presented to the council tomorrow by Aldermen James K. Ryan, 10th ward, and Martin W. Golden, ninth ward, and Attorney Kaercher will attend the session.

Last night's meeting followed an announcement by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of a new city refuse problem due to discontinuance of the dumping grounds in the Devil's Lake area. The mayor indicated the city might be forced to make temporary use of the Summer street grounds until another place is found, but only if refuse tended to collect on city streets.

Storehouse Razed by Fire

Asbury Park, N. J., June 17 (AP)—Fire raged through a trucking company's capacity-filled storehouse today, wrecking the building and causing an estimated $150,000 damage. Flames roared out of control for more than four hours in the general alarm blaze that gutted the two-story frame building used by the Richard Trucking Company of Bradley Beach. The building was chock full of hot water heaters, refrigerators, washing machines, bolts of expensive cloth and other items. Everything was destroyed.

Dempsey Dinner Slated Tonight

There'll be politicos there galore, but the speeches will be complimentary, devoid of the fire and brimstone that characterize election campaigns.

The occasion: A testimonial dinner for former Republican Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey at the Elks' club on Fair street this evening at 6:30.

Joseph Epstein, former Democratic alderman of the Sixth Ward, and a trustee of Kingston Lodge, 550, BPO Elks, is chairman of the event, one in a series held by the fraternal organization for members who have distinguished themselves in public service.

Dempsey, who as alderman-at-large became mayor on the death of Morris Block, was elected twice to the office. Later he served as city clerk during the C. J. Heiselman administration, and recently retired as a deputy county clerk in charge of the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau.

One of the most prominent members of the Kingston Elks, Dempsey served the lodge as secretary and trustee.

Chairman Epstein said that more than 150 of Dempsey's friends will be at the dinner.

Four former mayors have made reservations, Harry B. Walker and C. J. Heiselman, Republicans, and Eugene B. Carey and William F. Edelmuth, Democrats. These men served after Dempsey in the chain of city heads leading to the incumbent, Oscar V. Newkirk, who as an Elk will also be present.

Others to attend wil be men who have held public office from ward positions to judgeships in both political parties.

Epstein stressed that the usual spirit of good fellowship that always abounds at Elk testimonials will characterize this evening's program.

Runaway Truck

the cellar of the Keating apartment and left a large hole where it hit. It jarred and cracked timbers and walls and tore loose a section of wall on the opposite side of the building.

Police were notified at 2:30 p. m., shortly after the mishap and Officer Gurnsey Burger Jr., reported that the truck had been parked at the corner of Adams and West Pierpont street. The report indicated that it was undetermined whether the brakes released or whether the truck started its roll down the hill because of some other defect.

The house which the truck struck is only a few feet away from the residence of Bindewald, the driver.

Gabreski, 33, of Oil City, Pa., one of America's greatest combat pilots, as reporter (right) interviews him on his arrival at Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., from the Orient. Arriving a day ahead of schedule the colonel will have the pleasure of greeting his wife and eldest of four children, daughter Djoni, 6, on arrival from Battle Creek, Mich. where the family has been living, to join in a civic celebration for Gabreski. TB Germs

Tuberculosis, the communicable disease which leads the causes of death from disease in this country among the age group from 15 to 35, is one of our most serious health problems today. Although we still have a great deal to learn about the disease, TB was almost completely shrouded in mystery up to the latter part of the last century.

The ancient Egyptians and early Greek and Roman doctors had described tuberculosis in their writings, but the cause of the disease continued to be hidden for centuries. But in 1882, a German physicist named Robert Koch, after years of study and research, saw the tubercle bacillus under his microscope and then undertook to prove that the germ he had discovered causes TB.

Once the germ which caused the trouble was out in the open, it was established that the disease was communicable, passed on from person to person. Since every new case of tuberculosis came from an active case of the disease, it was obvious that people could be protected from TB by measures taken to stop its spread.

How do tubercle bacilli get from sick people to well persons? It is possible for those with active TB to send tubercle bacilli into the air when they cough or sneeze. Someone nearby can inhale these germs, or a well person can pick them up by handling or using the dishes, clothing, or other articles of a person ill with tuberculosis.

On the surface, it would seem that a well person could avoid TB germs by staying away from a person with active TB. But it isn't as simple as that.

One may be in contact with active TB—or have an early case of tuberculosis himself—without realizing it. For tuberculosis is treacherous and seldom makes its presence known, when it first strikes, by outward symptoms. Generally, the obvious symptoms appear when a person's illness has reached a more advanced stage.

However, tuberculosis can be detected early, should it strike. It can be found with the aid of the chest X-ray, which can search out suspicious sign of tuberculosis even before a person begins to look and feel ill.

Every adult should have a chest X-ray as part of his annual physical examination. This is the best measure any of us can take to find TB, should it attack, at the earliest possible moment, so that we can take steps to get prompt treatment while the disease is still in a stage that is easiest to cure.

Phoenicia Fish And Game Awards For Conservation

For its outstanding work in conservation the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association has been awarded a citation from the Field and Stream of the Air, and as a part of that award has been presented with a five horsepower Johnson outboard motor. The citation was won for being a club which had shown the most interest in conservation during the month of March, 1951. In addition to the motor, the club also has been awarded an aluminum boat, and a deer rifle as a token of appreciation for the work being carried out by the club.

Carl Muller is president of the club; Mervel Jones, vice-president; Herman Folkerts, treasurer, and Earl Conro is secretary.

Since the close of the 1951 trout season the club has stocked 176,000 trout in its area. Of these trout, which were from the New York State Conservation Department but distributed through the club 86,000 were legal size trout with some of them weighing up to two pounds. In addition to the state trout which were handled through the club, the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association also has purchased with its own funds from dues, 10,000 fingerling Brown trout.

Not only is the club membership interested in fishing but also in other forms of game conservation.

A Columbus Day weekend turkey shoot is now being planned by the club to be held at the Simpson Memorial Ski Slope in Phoenicia on October 12.

500 Are Against Reopening Dump

A petition with more than 500 names to be presented to the Common Council at its recessed meeting tomorrow asks definite action and assurance that no more dumping will be permitted in the Summer-Sterling street area, it was learned today.

It was agreed at a meeting of residents of the area held at the home of Edmund V. Demski, 72 Pine Grove avenue, last night to present the petition.

It was also indicated, that the group, represented by Attorney William A. Kaercher, has instructed him to take "whatever action may be necessary" to prevent further dumping in the area, if no assurance is given by the city that the practice will be ended.

The petition will be presented to the council tomorrow by Aldermen James K. Ryan, 10th ward, and Martin W. Golden, ninth ward, and Attorney Kaercher will attend the session.

Last night's meeting followed an announcement by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of a new city refuse problem due to discontinuance of the dumping grounds in the Devil's Lake area. The mayor indicated the city might be forced to make temporary use of the Summer street grounds until another place is found, but only if refuse tended to collect on city streets.

Dempsey Dinner Slated Tonight

There'll be politicos there galore, but the speeches will be complimentary, devoid of the fire and brimstone that characterize election campaigns.

The occasion: A testimonial dinner for former Republican Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey at the Elks' club on Fair street this evening at 6:30.

Joseph Epstein, former Democratic alderman of the Sixth Ward, and a trustee of Kingston Lodge, 550, BPO Elks, is chairman of the event, one in a series held by the fraternal organization for members who have distinguished themselves in public service.

Dempsey, who as alderman-at-large became mayor on the death of Morris Block, was elected twice to the office. Later he served as city clerk during the C. J. Heiselman administration, and recently retired as a deputy county clerk in charge of the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau.

One of the most prominent members of the Kingston Elks, Dempsey served the lodge as secretary and trustee.

Chairman Epstein said that more than 150 of Dempsey's friends will be at the dinner.

Four former mayors have made reservations, Harry B. Walker and C. J. Heiselman, Republicans, and Eugene B. Carey and William F. Edelmuth, Democrats. These men served after Dempsey in the chain of city heads leading to the incumbent, Oscar V. Newkirk, who as an Elk will also be present.

Others to attend wil be men who have held public office from ward positions to judgeships in both political parties.

Epstein stressed that the usual spirit of good fellowship that always abounds at Elk testimonials will characterize this evening's program.

Police were notified at 2:30 p. m., shortly after the mishap and Officer Gurnsey Burger Jr., reported that the truck had been parked at the corner of Adams and West Pierpont street. The report indicated that it was undetermined whether the brakes released or whether the truck started its roll down the hill because of some other defect.

The house which the truck struck is only a few feet away from the residence of Bindewald, the driver.

Four Arraigned Before Cashin

Accused of damaging Saugerschool system property, four Saugerties High School pupils were arraigned on malicious mischief charges in Kingston this morning before County Judge John M. Cashin, sitting as a committing magistrate.

The youths were booked at the sheriff's office as:

Leonard Sweeney, 17, of 38 Montgomery street, Saugerties.

Raymond Lang, 18, West Camp.

Gerard Brice, 17, 68 Washington avenue, Saugerties.

Roger Donlon, 18, Main street, Saugerties.

Donlon was released on $500 cash bail for hearing at a later date. The others, also granted hearings, were released on $1,000 property bail each.

The boys were detained by Saugerties police on Saturday, but no action was taken until after a meeting of the Saugerties Board of Education Monday night.

They were arraigned today under Subdivision 1, Section 1433 of the Penal Law, which treats of malicious mischief as a felony, in which the amount of alleged damage totals "more than $250."

Attorney Charles Saccoman of Kingston represented the defendants during arraignment this morning.

FBI Agents Give Trial Testimony

Trenton, N. J., June 17 (AP)—Four agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation testified today on the arrest of Pvt. Robert L. Williams at New Paltz, N. Y., on a murder charge.

Williams is accused of beating to death Sgt. Herman Weiner Feb. 3 at Fort Dix, N. J.

The FBI agents told a jury in federal court how Williams was arrested, taken to Kingston, N. Y., for questioning, transferred to New York city and then to Trenton.

The agents said Williams insisted he borrowed from a "Sgt. Hammond or Hammer" the automobile in which he drove to New Paltz. The car belonged to the dead man.

The trial of Williams now is in its fifth day. Williams has maintained he knew nothing of Weiner's death. His defense attorney had said Williams' activities at the time of the crime were "those of an innocent man."

Big Ship Arrives

Lakehurst, N. J., June 17 (AP)—The ZPN—world's largest nonrigid airship—nosed through a a heavy fog for a landing here today at the naval air station. The huge ship, which took two years to construct, left the Goodyear Aircraft Co. plant at Akron, Ohio, last night. It circled over the air station for nearly three hours then floated through the fog to the mooring mast. Later, it was taken into a hangar. A non-rigid ship is one without an internal structure in the gas bag. Like an enormous balloon, it is inflated with helium. All engines and crew quarters are suspended in a gondola underneath the gas bag. The new ship is 324 feet long and 35 feet high. Navy spokesmen claim that the new N-type ship is far superior to the K-type used extensively for hunting down enemy submarines in World War 2.

Arraigned before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today she was given a suspended sentence.

Officer Kenneth Gaffney, who was dispatched on the call at 9:38 p. m., said he was advised by the night watchman of the Miron Lumber Co., at Hasbrouck avenue and Ferry street, that a woman had walked to the rear of the building, and "was in the act of walking overboard" when the officer arrived.

Rome, June 17 (AP)—Enrico de Nicola, 74, resigned today as president of the Italian Senate. He said his action was prompted by a charge in the Chamber of Deputies that he altered a law after its passage. 23 Donors Are Needed Thursday For Blood Program

"Wanted—23 more donors to fill Kingston's quota in the Red Cross regional blood program!"

That's the urgent bulletin from local Red Cross headquarters, where final plans are in the making for the second visit of the bloodmobile unit Thursday at the municipal auditorium. The unit will be collecting blood for the armed services between 11:45 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. Although 187 donors are already registered, many in groups from Kingston's industrial plants, a total of 210 will be needed to insure filling this area's quota of 150 pints of blood.

On hand to assist the professional staff of the bloodmobile will be a corps of volunteer workers. Recruited under the direction of Mrs. William H. Merrill, chairman of voluntary services, they will be supervised by the following committee heads: Mrs. James Quinn, motor services; Mrs. William T. Fuller, staff aides; Mrs. William Hookey, canteen; Mrs. Gloria Kauder, nurses' aides, and Mrs. John McNierney, registered nurses. Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly is general chairman of the blood program.

For donors already registered and prospective donors, here are two late reminders from the Red Cross; first, be sure to avoid a fatty meal within four hours before your blood donation. That rules out fried foods, foods seasoned or cooked with fat, fatty meats, butter or mayonnaise, pie or cake containing fat, milk or shortening, milk or cream. Second, be prompt in keeping your appointment. Twelve donors will be scheduled for each 15-minute period, so promptness is necessary to keep the collections running smoothly.

Having no money a purse was made up to get him back to New York where he said he could get employment.

Court was recessed until 2 p. m. on June 30.
